SAY WHAT?

Talk, talk, talk — it's what we do all day, everyday throughout the year. We all have opinions and the Blue & Gray staff has made it a priority to include YOURS in this year's yearbook. You've told us how you feel on topics ranging from cramming for tests to victorious athletic moments. Freshman have expressed their fears about high school and seniors have reflected on the years that have seemingly flown by. The Blue & Gray staff has compiled your quotes on these topics and more. As you page through this yearbook, you will learn more about your peers and their views on not just academics and clubs, but also on social events and everyday life. We've done our best to involve everyone in the creation of the 1991-92 edition of Blue & Gray. Because, without you, what can we say?

Nichole Hawkins turns ta reply to her friend.

Lauren Seikaly sparts her cap at a faatball game.

Saphamore class members enjoy the beautiful fall day as they eat lunch.

Carlos Pelham and Tia Bowles dance the night away at the 1991 Hamecaming dance.

Sherae White, Ghita Harris, William Turk, Charles Sweazie and Danielle Lazure enjay seniar banding in the Cammans.

Juniors Angela Ogden and Candace Contreras flash their gorgeaus smiles.

JV Cheerleaders Lisa Penning and Tara Skidmore exchange gassip during the Hamecaming faatball game.

Yang Shim and Mike Gollan discuss the latest news.

DIVERSITY IS THE KEY

Statistics show that Washington-Lee's population consists of 37% Hispanic, 36% White, 14% Black, and 13% Asian people, which proves what we all know — W-L is a highly diverse community. Because this is true, the Blue & Gray staff has made it a priority to reach EVERYONE in the school. The quotes and surveys throughout the yearbook represent the opinions of each ethnic background and nationality present at Washington-Lee. It is important that this edition of Blue & Gray reflects the wide array of cultures at our school, not just a select group of people. Exposure to diversity is the key to a truly well-rounded education. You can quote us on that!

"... and you can quote me on that," replies Thomas Hill.

Hilt students Jagmahan Singh, Erik Arbaleda, Jimmy Paredes, Immar Mantiel Hectar Amnaya, and Ludgara Pacheca study last year's edition of Blue & Gray.

Nataki Green and Sherae White share a laugh in between classes.

Student Life

Q: What is your favorite social event? Why?

A: Homecoming: It gives you an opportunity to get to know another person; not only what they are like in school, but what they are really like on a date. It's also a time to get closer to the one person you really care for.

Yorvska Solozor

Q: What do you think is the most successful fund raiser?

A: Selling candy: Everyone eats it and it's a great snack before lunch.

Taro Skidmore

Q: What school rule at W-L do you think is the silliest?

A: You can't leave the library by the upstairs door.

Loro Johnson

Q: How important is it to have a car? Why?

A: Being able to drive and having a car is very important. I've been walking for almost fifteen years now and when I turn sixteen, believe me, I am going to drive everywhere!

Notosho Sofo

The students continue to donce os the bolloons fall symbolizing the conclusion of the homecoming donce.

Steven Cooper ond Linh Tennies prepore for o romontic evening ot the donce.

Can you believe it! Are Janet Glover and Anka Kallarova crazy or what?

Practice makes perfect: That's Nancy Sirivanikarn's and Lisa Hayes' key to success.

Tricia Luck and Jenny Vargas, like many other students, begin their day socializing in the commons.

Fina Malave exclaims to Lisa Izaguirre, "Where did you hear that!"

Rocquica Ricks stands proud as she is escarted down the field by Omar Sharter.

Jagdeep Semhi paints her face with General pride.

Steve Lawry really is getting into this Homecoming game.

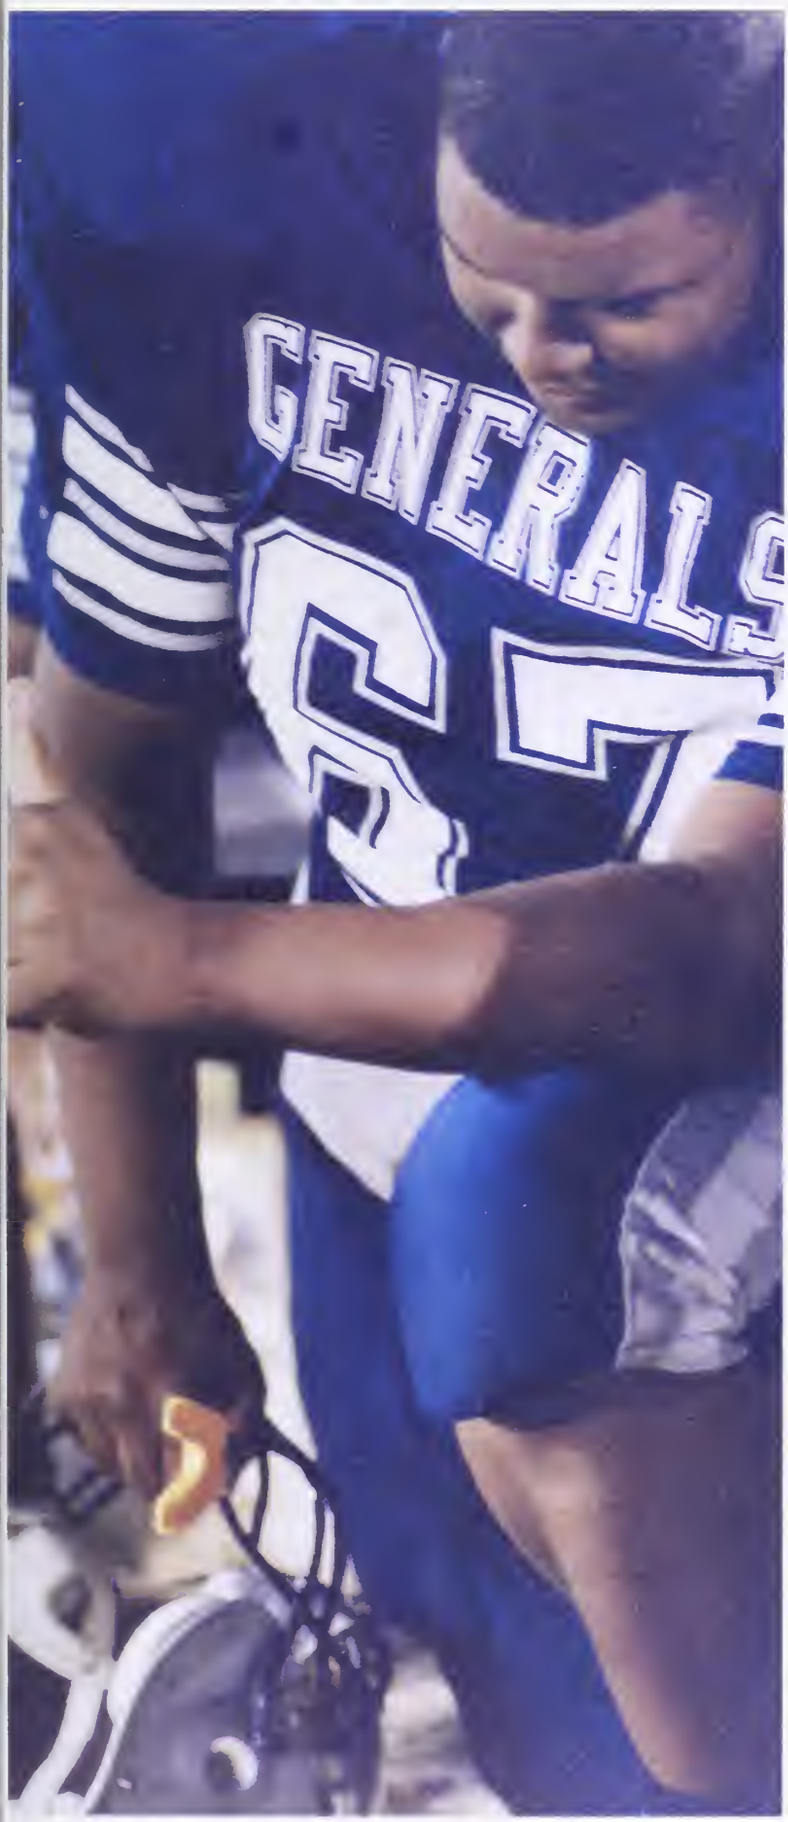

Q: Do you think that it was important for the Generals to win their homecoming?

A: As long as we did our best and had fun, it doesn't matter if we won or not.

THE HOMECOMING GAME

As the spirit of the schaal was at its peek the lang-awaited hamecaming game was finally abaut ta begin. The game was begun with an exciting homecaming parade. The band, cheerleaders, and the hamecaming caurt led the parade araund the streets af Ballston Commons area with parents waiting ta greet their kids at the school.

Unfartunately the Generals were defeated by the Loncers af Rabert E. Lee High School. But the spirit that the students had all day remained thraughout. Despite the defeat an the field there was an amazing victary by the Generals during the halftime shaw. As the band marched on the field the crawd raared. The band made an aisle far the festivities to begin. After the intraductian af the cheerleaders and class afficers, it was finally time for the intraductian of the Hamecaming caurt. This year's freshmen attendants were Ursula Thomas, Alex Hawkins, Nancy Caracas, and Willy Barquero. The saphomare class attendants were Carlos Pelham, Jimmy Poplin, Belinda Watson, and Heather Womack. Representing the Junior class was Reyhan Deskins, Michelle Knight, Carlyn Vick, and Troy Lucas. Finally the attendants far the seniars were Rocquica Ricks, William Turk, Kelly Munly, Jonas Brown, and Rick Schettler. The student council president, Ghita Harris, began apening the envelape af the Hamecoming King and Queen. Our king was William Turk and our Queen was Kelly Munly. The crowd cheered and the Hamecaming caurt exited the field in their convertibles to the sweet meladies af our alma mater. William cammented, "I was surprised when they called my name, but I was happy that my best friend Omar taak time aut of his schedule to walk for me."

William Turk

Carlyn Vick and Troy Lucas wait patiently for the Homecoming results to be announced.

Maurice Martin thinks about strategies to defeat the Loncers.

JUST ME AND YOU

His sweaty palms trembled as he reluctantly dialed the numbers slowly. He wiped his hands off while the phone was ringing. With his voice trembling he quietly asked, "May I speak to _____? Hello, will you go to the dance with me? it will be "Just Me and You".

The Homecoming Dance "Just Me and You", held on October 19, was exceptionally successful for the Senior class. Even though the evening was quite windy and cold there was a good turnout.

This year's dance was quite different from the other Homecoming dances in the past years. Instead of having a band we had a disc jockey. Nicole Sumby commented, "This year was better than last year because we could hear a variety of music, not the same generic oldies but goodies tunes.

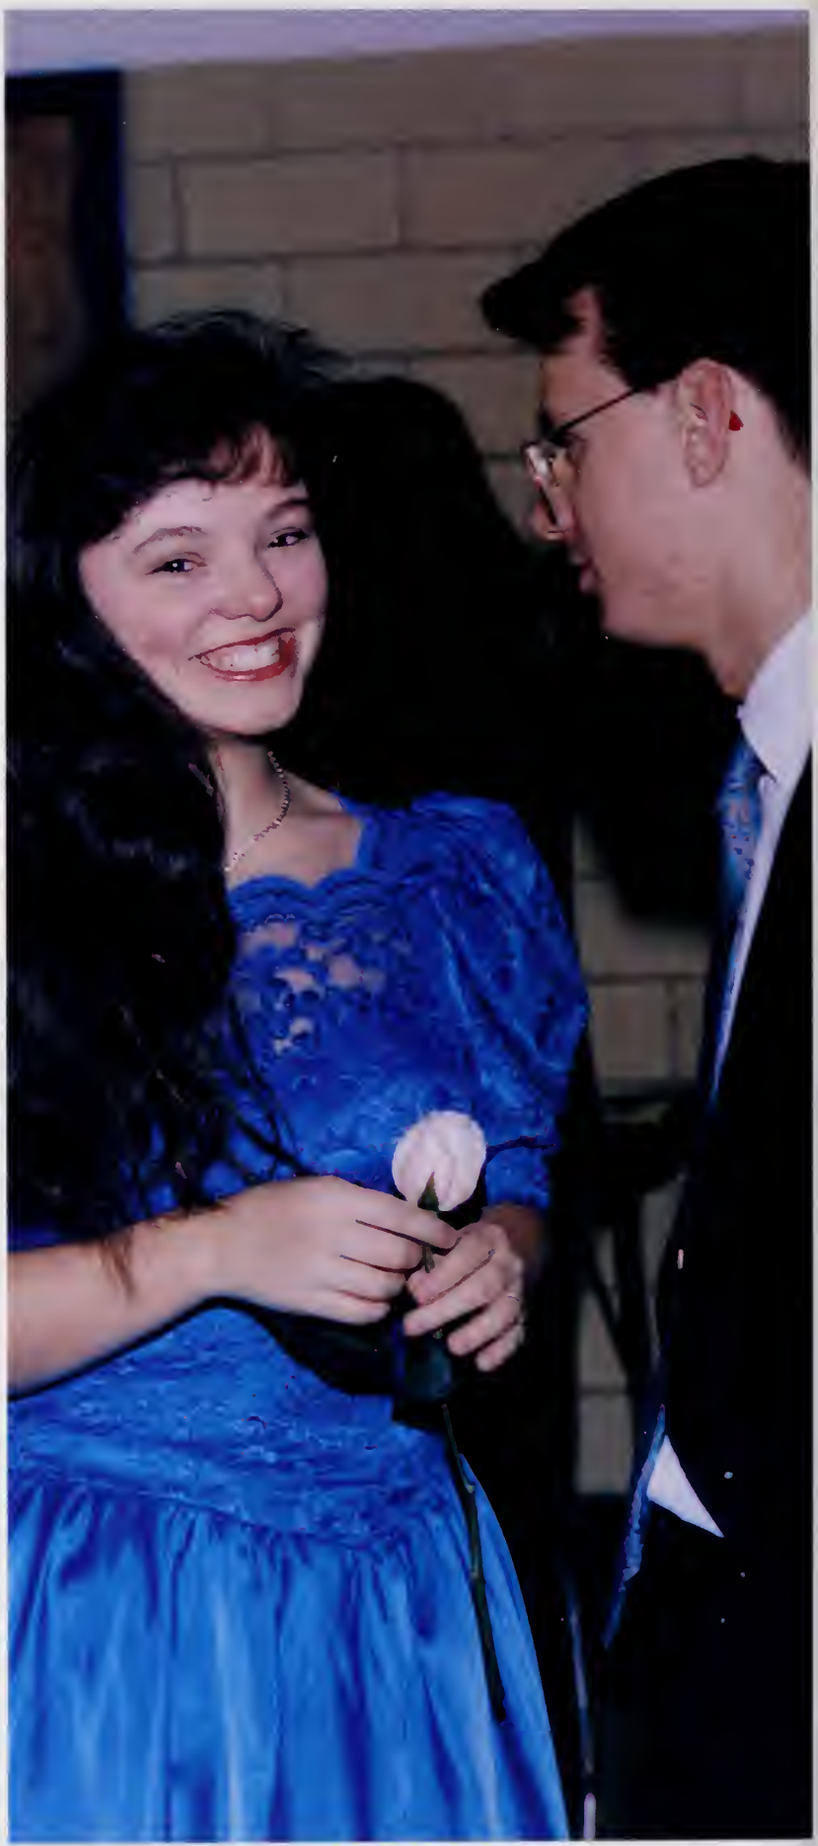

A lot of people went stag this year. "I had more fun without a date, because I was not tied down to one guy," said Vanecia Davis.

"Overall the dance was a success and it ran smoothly. I was quite pleased with the turnout," commented Terry Bratt, assistant principal.

As the night ended the couples exited to the sweet melodies of Boyz to Men's "It's So Hard Goodbye to Yesterday."

Vanecia Davis and Nicole Sumby danced so much that they had to remove their shoes.

Jessica Ward seems like she is having a good time at the dance.

Q: Do you think that it is important to be having a relationship with your homecoming date?

A: My date happened to be my girlfriend, but I don't feel that it is important to have a relationship with your date, as long as you are having fun.

Jamie Somers

Tara Collado gozes into her dote's eyes during the slow donce.

Kerri Mallon showed her moves on the donce floor.

Marc Edmonds pins a corsage on Joanne Rameriz before the dance.

Nancy Caracas ond Ruth Guerra hove fun doing the Electric Slide.

Kelly Munly wore o silly moose hot to show her spirit.

Ria Riesner dressed up in a funny flowered dress for crozy doy.

Q: Do you think it is important to have school spirit?

A: Yes, it is important because it is a time when we can let everybody know that we are the best.

— Eduardo Contreras —

SHOWING OUR SPIRIT

This year, spirit week was a time of fun and a demonstration of our school spirit. We had fun decorating the halls, working on the floats and anticipating the weekend. Julie Mun commented that "Spirit week showed that we had pride in our school." Each day we dressed up differently and "wore" our school spirit. Tuesday we all showed up in college sweatshirts. Wednesday everyone picked out the strangest thing they could find in their closet and came to school. Marlene Bracamontes thought "Crazy day was the funniest day all week because of what people showed up in." Thursday, our school was a blast from the past and we saw students in clothes from the fifties and sixties. Friday was the day we all know and love — Blue and Gray day. All in all spirit week was a big success, loads of fun, and gave us a chance to show our Generals' spirit.

Nancy Siravanakern certainly displayed her spirit well.

The senior class 'takes off' in ninety-two.

THEN AND NOW

Some of our best memories are from when we were young. It seems to have been easier when we were little and we did not have to worry about adolescence. But people change a lot from elementary to high school, not only physically but emotionally. When we were little we wanted to be older but now that we are older we wish that we were younger. Things seemed so much simpler then. We meet people and do things that will be treasured for the rest of our lives. How many times have we heard our parents say that "high school years are the best years of your life; enjoy every minute"? We learn two sides of life, the one which can help us and the one that can hurt us. We are lucky to live in these times because we are handed so many opportunities. At least we do not have to walk three miles to school through the long, hard winter. Senior Audrey Wright said that, "Change is one good thing to look forward to." The good thing about change is that we learn about ourselves and other people and make some great memories along the way.

Maureen Isha, then and naw.

Jimmy Poplin halds his prize possessian when he was four — And now in the halls of W-L.

Jeff Hensgen showing his big catch of the doy and now os o junior.

Q: Do you think it is better to be older or younger?

A: I think it is better to be older because you get more freedom and independence. Plus, things are more exciting and new. However every once in a while I miss being young and just having fun at a sleepover or doing simpler things."

— Becky Signer —

Rolando Terazzas wos hoppy then ond now.

Leanne Flakes doesn't seem to hove chonged too much from when she wos young.

Mike Kelly in third grode ond now in ninth doesn't look too different.

A yearbook representative, Eduardo Contreras, talks to Mrs. Kramer-Roberts' class about the yearbook.

Ana Cabrera, social studies student, works on her assignment.

Vilma Buenaventura rewrites a paper for class.

Tatiana Cartez listens intently to Mrs. Baker's instructions.

Q: What is the joy of teaching Hilt?

A: The joy is to watch kids make an incredible amount of academic progress in a short period of time. It's also a joy to be able to help kids to become a part of U.S. society.

— Mimi Kramer-Roberts

HILT: A Starting Point

At Washington-Lee, a large percent of the student population is originally from a country where English is not usually the language spoken. From Bolivia to Afghanistan, these students begin their U.S. education in the HILT program, a High Intensity Language Training program that not only helps students to learn the English language, but also familiarizes them with the culture, which may be totally unknown to them. These students work extremely hard, keeping up with their HILT classes as well as other classes that don't require as much verbal communication, so the language barrier is less of a problem. The faculty in this program are caring individuals who develop special bonds with their students, encouraging them and helping them to make tremendous progress. When they exit the program, these students have gained a vast knowledge of a second language and culture in a short period of time.

Cristian Santibanez and Elias Cancinas are welcome additians to Mrs. Dale's Hilt class.

Mr. Thomas Schelstrate gives Hazara Begum a lesson in history.

Usual and Unusual Vacations

"It was the best experience of my life!" raved Jyl Hall about her summer trip to Uganda. She wished she was still there with her family helping AIDS patients.

While Jyl was working in Uganda many students worked here. Many students worked at pools, restaurants, and camps. Vacation was also a time when you could get all those things done that you did not seem to have time for like visiting all those colleges.

Most people do not have a very exciting summer, but they usually do come back to school feeling more relaxed. "It was so much fun having my friends with me when I went to the beach — a place to make great memories, and have a lot of fun," Margaret Gavian said after being asked about her trip to Rehoboth with Summer Casillas, Becky and Mira Signer, and Yael Utt. The beach is a very popular place for students to unwind after tough school year.

Summer Casillas, Margaret Gavian, Becky and Mira Signer, and Yael Utt enjay the beach at Rehabeth.

A group of seniars enjayed sun bathing at a local paal.

A: "It has to be the love and affection we share together."

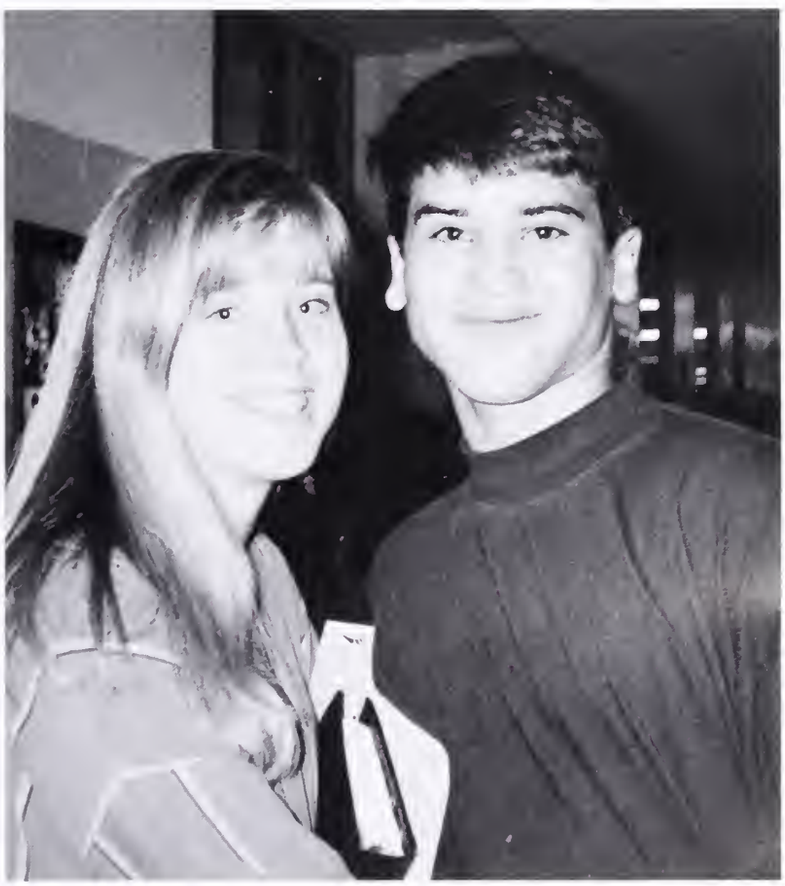

Marc Edmonds and Joanne Ramirez

Together Forever

Where did you find that special person? Was it at the mall, at a party, in the movies, or just out shopping for Mom? According to our sources, most Washington-Lee students found their "match" right here at school. When asked to sum up his feelings for Violeta Chapin, Jamie Summers said, "That's my baby." Jonas Brown and Kelly Munly "realized that this year we wanted something more than just a friendship". Garret Orr and Lee Harper have "managed to strengthen our relationship with each hardship" This spread is dedicated to all the Washington-Lee couples who have survived the hard times and yet love one another even more. As Nataki Green stated, "It's important in a relationship to be able to compromise, trust, and respect your partner". This spread shows a few of our couples and how they have found a "happy ending".

Brenda Rios and Lauis Duran find time to be alone.

FAMILY — BRINGING THEM WITH YOU

You would think that school is one place where you could get away from your family, but there are several lucky people who get to bring family with them every morning. When asked how she felt about going to school with her sister, Mira Signer said, "Since we don't have any classes together I love seeing her. It makes our time together more special." Some people think it is great. You have a person you can always depend on, for a book or as a friend who knows you better than anyone else. Others don't think it is too much fun, having to put up with your sister or brother twenty-four hours a day. Sean Moran said, "It's all right because I meet her friends, she meets mine, and I can get a ride to school." Some students' parents work at school. The good point to this is that you have them there to help you if you need something like money or the car. Danny Matos commented on having his mom work at school: "It's the worst because you get caught every time." Family plays a big role in everyone's life. And we have to face it every day, either when you get home or all day long.

Dharti and Reena Desai are a close pair of sisters.

Rocquica Ricks and her brother, Kareem, enjoy going to school together.

Q: What is it like to have your sibling go to school with you?

A: "In some ways it is good because I always have a protector, plus a ride home. But it gets annoying because he embarrasses me in front of his friends."

— Alex George

Sister and brother, Alex and Chris George have fun on family vacations.

Twins, Mira and Becky Signer smile for sisterhood.

Kerry and Mike Hurt stand in front of a beautiful background.

The Maurices — Maurice Angelo and Maurice Anthony Cruz.

Q: Do you feel that it is important to make a fashion statement?

A: "Personally, clothes are not really important to me. As long as I look neat I am satisfied."

Bayn Van Doren

Style

Fall 1991 has been a tremendous turnaround for women's fashions. "It seems like we are wearing things that our parents wore when they were young!" commented Shala Ewing.

As far as women's fashions this fall, plaids are hotter than ever before. Bright colors are in and earthstones never go out of style. Leather is more popular than ever. Girls, don't forget your knee high, leather boots; they will take you into the holiday season with style.

As for you fellows, the earthstones have trickled down to you as well. Rugby shirts, starter jackets, and NuBucks are the popular items this fall. The leather jacket would be a key to your success after the holiday season. As far as men's fragrances go, nothing compares to Calvin Kline's Obsession.

As you step into 1992, step into it with style, and be sure to read the fashion section of your paper for the latest fashions in the metropolitan area.

— Nataki Green

IS IT TRUE THAT . . .

Girl, did you hear about _____? Guess what happened? Does _____ still go out with _____? Do you still like _____? Do you know if he likes me? These are just a few questions that spark up a good conversation between friends.

The average student at W-L spends a majority of his or her spare time on the phone at home, rather than doing homework. Boys, girls, parties, and teachers are just a few topics of discussion.

"Gossip is sometimes fun among friends, but it can be harmful if the comments are meant to hurt someone," commented Caryn Faltz.

David Bursynski reads a love letter he received to his friend Jason.

Whatever Carlyn Vick is telling Stephanie Schwin must really be amusing.

Q: How do you think that gossip affects people?

A: "People don't come to get talked about, they come to get an education. School is definitely not the place for it."

Traci Arnold

Nancy Caracas ond Ruth Guerra seem to be hoving on interesting conversotion in the commons during closs.

Karen Waad shows us where she spends her spore time in school.

Ashley Galden ond Danielle Lazure shore some interesting news with eoch other during closs.

Quan Le Chau ond Kim Tran seem to be sharing some interesting news with each other.

ON THE JOB

Money. Think about the times when you really wanted to go out and you did not have gas money, money for food, or money for the movie that you really wanted to see. Most students who couldn't always afford these luxuries took time out of their busy schedules to get a part-time job.

"An average day for me is to come to school from 7:30-2:10, go to work at the Education Center until 4:00, and catch the late bus to my theatrical group rehearsal until 9:00p.m.," commented senior, Caryn Faltz. The first question that came to mind was "When did she do her homework?" She commented, "Between breaks".

Some parents feel that their children should not have jobs because they say that a job distracts them and makes their grades drop. Jagdeep Sehmi commented, "If you learn to priorize your time it should be easy to keep track of school work."

JKJ dealerchips, Dominoes, Contemporary Casuals, and The Gap are a few of the more popular work cites for employment. A lot of our students receive jobs through our business education department.

For some people, jobs are necessary to help them pay for college or just to help their family survive. A junior commented, "As the oldest of three in a single-parent home, it is important that I maintain a part-time job to help my mother pay for bills and other expenses."

So, jobs have played an important role in many students lives.

After o hord evening's work, Betsy Stevensan closes up ot the book store to go home ond get o good night's rest.

Eduardo Contreras finds time to do his homework on his job ot the library.

Q: How does having a job make you feel?

A: Having a job has given me sense of independence, responsibility and initiative. As a senior it was important to have a job to support the financial necessities you encounter throughout the year.

— Morgan Courbois

Cissy Jin hos her own business of typing papers for students. She is her own boss.

Sherae White looks like she is working hord onswering the telephones at WAVA.

Along with roising o fomily, Mrs. Baker finds time to teoch ond sponsor the senior closs. Three jobs in one.

Manique Pulliam and Racquica Ricks hove fun working together in the IRS building.

Tita Cerda, Jamie Samers and Traci Arnold, use some of their free time playing "Rockin Robin".

In her extra time, Naomi Wiersma makes money babysitting.

Lisa Johnson, Nicole Lowe, and Crystal Pierce enjoy hanging out together in their free time.

Thomas Hill, during his spare lunch time, helps out in the cafeteria.

Q: Do you find yourself with a lot of extra time for the things you want to do?

A: Extra time?! What's that? Between sports, school, and a social life I can barely find any time for myself. If only my teachers knew just how much I have to do in one day maybe they would lighten up a little.

Sarah Franz

Spare Time — Wishing for More

"There's not enough!" John Rouse commented when asked about spare time. It seems that this is the case with the majority of students. There is always something that has got to be done; whether it's sports, homework, jobs, or friends, spare time is hard to come by.

The alarm goes off, it's early, too early. I've gotta get to school, don't miss the bus, don't forget lunch money. Do I have everything? Ok — I'm here. Great. Six and a half hours of classes to face. Oh — bleep — we have a test, don't we?!? Hurry up and study. Only five minutes to get to next period. Finally school is over, but I still have three hours of practice to look forward to. Practice was hard today. I'm so tired but I still have homework. When will I find time? Oh my gosh — where has the time gone? It's 11:00 and I've still got more things that I have to do . . . — A typical day in the life of a W-L student.

Spare time is a great thing if you can find any. "It's important to have some free time. Everyone needs time by him or herself to relax." Sema Alexander said. No wonder so many people sleep in class!

Becca Wyckaff spends the majority af her time dancing.

Priscila Peneira and Ingrid Flares keep busy playing in the archestra

PET PEEVES

Pet peeves ore those things that get on your nerves. They con ronge from someone crocking their knuckles to the way o person dots their i's with heorts. Some pet peeves ore the noises thot disturb or distract you in class or ot home when you're trying to work. "I hote when people toke a drink from my gloss before the finish chewing their food, "Lisa Penning said right oway after being osked whot her pet peeve was.

Pet peeves come in mony shapes and sizes. Sam Poulin said , "My pet peeve is those Taco Bell commerciols. Another one is onnoying cousins on holidoys."

These pet peeves ore o port of our every doy lives and will olwoys be there.

— Gretchen Trygstad

Tara Skidmare's pet peeve is the short skirts she has to wear for cheerleading.

Jane Lucas hates being stuffed in a locker.

Q: What is your pet peeve?

A: "Actually I have many. Spilled milk on the table . . . butter sitting out on the counter . . . when teachers don't totally erase the blackboard . . . when people don't write their e's, d's, and t's the right way . . . when a shoe is separated from its pair . . . when socks are dirty and crumpled up . . . when toothpaste is smeared on the bathroom counter . . . when Becky doesn't make her bed in the morning . . . clean laundry that isn't folded . . . in PE when we play volleyball, when someone doesn't hit the ball or messes up on my turn to serve."

— Mira Signer

Abed Abu-taa hates baring classes where he falls asleep.

Q: Is it enriching to perform a live play?

A: As a cast member, performing "I Remember Mama" was an experience, not only in technique, but in learning the ropes

— Justin Mog

I Remember Mama

"I think that in everyday school life not many people get a chance to shine and show their talent. This play gave many talented actors and actresses a chance to show friends, parents, and teachers that we aren't the same person on stage, are we?" said cast member Jessica Ward.

I Remember Mama was told through the eyes of Katrin (Melanie Asp), the oldest daughter of a poor Norwegian immigrant family. The family goes through the hardships of the early 1900's. Katrin is writing a book on the events that go on within her family, later selling the book to a publisher. Her main focus is Mama, (Bayne Van Doren), the kind-hearted mother who is the backbone of the family.

As Mrs. Filpi commented, "I was impressed with the final outcome of the play. The hard work and effort paid off for our cast and crew."

This year's drama department was again able to out do themselves in the performance of "I Remember Mama." Melanie Asp told the staff, "Our fall play redefined my views of the Washington-Lee drama department; it made me believe anything is possible".

HOLIDAY BAZAAR

The Woshington-Lee Holidoy Bazaar morks the beginning of the winter holidoy. This yeor the bozoor wos held on December 14. A greot deol of work went into this bazaor, thonks to the efforts of the Senior closs.

There were a variety of different vendors that sold and displayed vorious items. Woodworks, jewelry, ornaments, toys, and other household crofts were omong the voriety of different items that were avoiloble.

Woshington-Lee's clubs also hod various tobles to help roise money. The African Awareness society sold dinners, which roised o lot of money. Agoin this year the Key Club sold their fomous Hot Dogs, which ore olwoys a greot success. But the mony different cultural clubs did o greot job of steoling the Key Club's business with their exotic foods from their countries. "This yeor we did not need to roise much money so the we decided just to sell Christmos Corols. We let the Senior class take over our funnel coke business," commented Betsy Stevenson, president of the Woshington-Lee Modrigols. The Modrigols olso took time to sing o few free carols to entertain. The bond sold gropefruit ond oronges which wos very successful.

And what's o Holiday Bozoor without Sonto? This yeor good old jolly Santa poid a visit to our holidoy festivities to moke some final adjustments on his Christmos list. He is olwoys the highlight of the day. Hope thot he mokes it bock next yeor.

— Nataki Green

Alvaro Vargas, Ariel Faranda, ond Nancy Mendez toke time out of their Saturday to help their Hisponic club to sell Christmos trees.

Look at Sonto Jonathon Miller os he sits down ond gets some help from o friend on creoting o Christmas list.

Q: What is your favorite activity during the holiday bazaar?

A: This year was very special to me because this was my last holiday bazaar with the Madrigal singers. My favorite time was when we sang our carols to the audience. I will never forget my experience as a Madrigal and being at the bazaar during this holiday made it very special for me.

— Betsy Stevenson

A Week of Fun and Frolic

Woshington-Lee students reolly showed their spirit during the week of October 18 — Spirit Week. Eoch doy of the week gove students o chonce to show their school spirit by dressing occording to the doys.

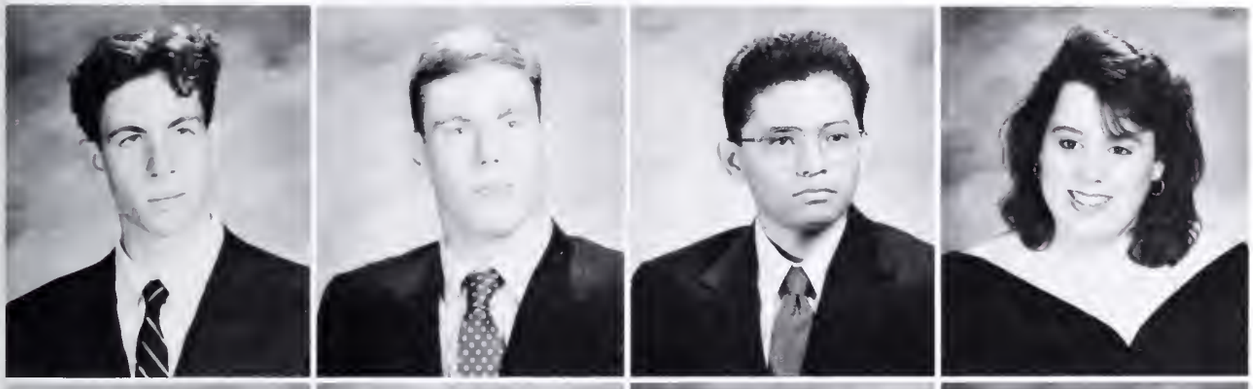

"I loved College Sweotshirt Doy. First of oll, you con weor your fovorite sweots so you ore comfortoble oll doy, ond second, you get to weor your fovorite college sweotshirt to show everyone whot school you ore interested in," exploined Karen Wood. Crozy Doy wos the most outrogeous doy for Melia Arnold. "Weoring my clothes inside-out for o doy is fun ond different. It mokes it o lot crozier when you weor your mismotched clothes."

Thursdoy's theme wos Blost from the Post. Cindy Stephens commented thot this wos her fovorite doy becouse it is trodition for Seniors to weor togos ond strut their stuff. Jake Lynn liked to woit until Fridoy, Blue ond Groy Doy to show his true school spirit becouse this wos the lost chonce for the Seniors to show their school spirit. The pep rolly held ot the end of the doy wos the true test to prove just which closs disployed the most W-L spirit. It wos no contest once the Seniors stormed in ond took control of the pep rolly. "The pep rolly wos the best becouse it showed the underclossmen who wos in commond,"excloimed Danielle Lazure.

Suprisingly the Sophomores come in first for the holl decoroting with Lonce the Loncers. In second were the Juniors, third went to the Seniors with "Toke Off With '92", ond fourth ploce went to the Freshmen.

Without o doubt 1991 Spirit Week creoted o choos of colors ond styles thot bomborded Woshington-Lee's hollwoys ond clossrooms.

Dancing the Night Away

"Just Me and You" was played as King and Queen Jonas Brown and Kelly Munly took the dance floor. Even though the Generals suffered a loss the night before, it had no effect on the mood of the much anticipated evening.

The dance was sponsored by the Senior class and was held October 19, 1991, from 8:00 pm until 12 midnight. Howard Cook from MCA Records provided a variety of music that everyone enjoyed. Many would think that such a special evening would attract Seniors, but many underclassmen made an appearance. "This was a huge money maker," exclaimed Senior class president Justin Mog.

Most of the couples that attended the dance went to a formal dinner before and some had an elegant dinner at home for two. Joanne Ramirez commented that her parents prepared a three course meal for her and her date, Marc Edmonds, and that it was very romantic and saved them both money.

Everyone was sad to see the perfect evening come to an end, but the memories will be kept between "Just Me and You."

So Many Choices, So Little Time

Going aut ta lunch was a privilege that I had been waiting far since I gat ta high schaal. It was awesame to finally get the chance ta da it this year.

— Anh Bui

Mana Shukla laaks satisfied after eating her deliciaus cheese pizza from Pizza Hut.

Anh Bui, Eduardo Contreras, and Naomi Wiersma shaw haw happy they are ta be going out ta lunch.

It took three-long awaited years (for some (hint, hint,!), but this year the Seniors of '92 possessed the privilege of going off-campus — legally.

Among the many fast food restaurants Two Chefs and Pizza Hut were a favorite for many. "Two Chefs' gyros are spectacular," shouted Mike Callahan. Artis Mooney commented that she loved Pizza Huts' bread sticks with their delicious sauce. Mana Shukla said that even though Pizza Hut was a low priced meal, service was slow and she was forced to gobble her food down in five minutes. Wendy's and Hardees were the places to go if you were in a hurry and hurting for money. Their 99¢ value was very appetizing for those who had under two dollars to spend. There was always the Food Court at Ballston Commons for those who had a wide variety of taste.

Going out to lunch taught many of us the true value of a dollar. "As a Senior I was forced to learn the true meaning of economics and how to budget my money and find my way through the week with two measly bucks a day," Morgan Courbois commented. Those who couldn't afford the sky rocketing prices of greasy fast food joints went home for a good home cooked meal. It also gave Seniors a chance to catch up on a few extra minutes of studying.

With only forty minutes for lunch, was all of the hassle worth it? For some, yes — or else it was the delicious cafeteria food for lunch.

Weekends

The Weekend — A three day periad existing fram Friday night ta Sunday night. A time ta relax, have some fun, and enjay life a little mare. Weekends gave Seniars that well-deserved time ta take a break fram all af Mrs. Martin's lang term assignments, and begin the many callege essays we all had ta da!! In between all that wark, seniars squeezed in a little time ta experience everything Arlingtan had ta affer. Na matter haw each persan spent it, there was always something ta da, na matter haw baring it could be sametimes. During the fall, there were all the Friday night Generals Faatball games where yau could usually find a few friends hanging aut. If nat there was an accasianal party (ar twa ar three, we haped) where we could meet up with everyane. In the winter, there were all thase rawdy basketball games where many seniars chase ta spend their Fridays. It shawed the underclassmen that it really was caal ta ga ta games. Na matter what yau chase ta da, yau could always haak up with a fellaw seniar friend and just hang aut.

Same seniors chase ta go outside the realm af schaal activities. There was always a trusty movie to see at CourtHause, ar a new release at Blackbusters ta entertain us. And far a few, there was Geargetawn ta raam araund and da night-time windaw shapping. Mana Shukla excitedly pranaunced that "Geargetawn is beautiful by night, and you can meet sa many interesting peaple."

Sunday afternaans were a great time ta curl up far a lang nap before tackling all the hamewark we put aff all weekend. All in all, weekends were made far a lat af things; fram a stroll in the park ar a faatball game. Many cammented that weekends were made far having a gaad ald time with yaur friends and family, but mast agreed that it was a time ta catch up an what yau missed aut an all week. Na matter what the reasan was, everyane enjayed and taak advantage af every weekend, and especially the lang anes.

Seniors Worked To Survive

"Working was a very rewarding experience. It helps one to have a feel of what the real life outside school is like," expressed Cissy Jin. Many seniors, either out of sheer need for their own money or forced by their parents, had jobs. Working outside of the school-influenced atmosphere gave seniors the unique opportunity to make and spend their own money. Some of the more responsible among us chose to save our money for more productive things like . . . COLLEGE. Even though working was a "very rewarding experience," it did become a hassle sometimes. Especially from about November to February. Many of us admitted that we could barely handle those months without a job. All in all though everyone agreed that having those few extra dollars was extremely convenient. "Working was necessary," said the majority of seniors. Many just couldn't survive on our parents' weekly allowance, if there was one.

Seniors' jobs varied from working in libraries, toy stores, clothing shops, and Leslie Fox even worked in a liquor store! Jimmy Lucier said that "Working kept me out of trouble." No matter what kind of job a senior had, whether it had been in or out of the home, they all agreed that they had to work to survive!

Volunteering . . . It's A Senior Thing To Do

Chris George tolks about caring for others ot the Thonksgiving Assembly.

The Student Recyclers of Arlington Brent Rockwell, Mr. Walden, Owen Emry, Israel Pinto, Ann Bui, Naami Wiersma, Mike Gallan, Eduarda Cantreras, Justin Mag, Rick Schettler; missing Kevin Janes, Rachel Kahan and Maurice Cruz.

"I do it because I'd rather be part of the solution than the problem," said Rachel Kahan. Chris George explained, "We do it for ourselves, our future, and our Mother Earth."

What is it? It is volunteer work and community service. For the past couple of years, many seniors have worked in some kind of service project. Many members of the class showed how deeply concerned they were about mankind and the future of our planet just by their enthusiasm to help out in the community.

Together with the Environmental Club and Key Club, the seniors became aware of the many environmental and social problems in our community. Making and delivering food for the homeless, visiting nursing homes, and working with the Special Olympics were some of the projects that senior Key Clubbers helped with. Senior Environmental clubbers helped with stream cleaning and planting trees.

The Student Recyclers of Arlington were yet another group of seniors that helped out with newspaper and other forms of recycling in the Arlington Forest community area. As Israel Pinto put it, "Recycling, we do it over and over again."

Thus the seniors left a new tradition at W-L that volunteering was simply a senior thing to do.

Dave Tress, Matt Smaldone and Dennis Pittman take a break fram all af their seniar frustratians.

Seniors' Hassles

The word frustration often came to the minds of many seniors throughout their final year of high school. Needless to say that the one main reason was because of the fact that after this final year everyone will be out on their own. Yes, finally these students are able to rule the school. However with all the glory of being a prestigious senior came the following frustrating obstacles to overcome: S.A.T.'s, teacher recommendations, essays, and applications. Of course we realize that after all of this is completed and done with, it's all over and seniors can kick back and relax for a while. The only major preoccupation after all of the senior hassles is counting the days until graduation!! There seems to be a great feeling of accomplishment as well as satisfaction after everything is done, but then Karen Wood asked herself, "Why do I bother anymore? I'm into the college of my choice and I know what I want to do with my life after that, why do I still bother?" The answer to this popular question lies somewhere within the confines of the Senior Slump, which in turn ties in with the many frustrations of seniors.

Remember When . . .

Whot is the ane thing thot yau remember mast vividly about W-L? Is it a certoin football game, a Hamecaming donce/date, the time you got the lead in the play, the doy you ond your bayfriend/girlfriend met ond brake up, the day yau gat into callege . . . The list gaes an ond an. It is funny and sametimes saddening when you stort ta remember when . . .

Daes anyane actuolly remember Freshmon year? Having ta toke P.E. ond hoving ta sit in the warst seots in the gym during pep rallies? And what abaut that helmet that we hod os aur flaot? Da yau remember thot we last every single Homecaming competitian?

Saphamore year? Remember "Super G" (aur float)? The only time we came clase ta winning Hall Decaroting, we were "On Claud '92." And af course, wha cauld forget burning their gym clathes and getting their first ticket becouse they ron the "NO TURN ON RED" light on Washingtan Blvd. ond Stafford St. The year came ta on end when we beot the seniars in the tug of wor ond we gat aur lacks glued.

Junior Life, those were the doys ond the nights. Heavy duty Wyott stuff ond the never ending Hemingwoy. Remember the "Brew Crew '92" ond the doy Wyott's penguin was murdered? Then getting the PSATs and SATs back. Did anyane try jumping off Key Bridge? And what about all those porties and thase special people thot hod now became our life-lang friends?

SENIOR YEAR!!! It was finally our turn to rule W-L. Remember haw we shawed aur seniar spirit ot the Hamecaming pep rally? And af caurse, oll the days of college stuff and haw Seniar Slump seemed ta last oll yeor. And oll the mony Seniar pronks and Senior Skip Day? Dan't farget Spring Breok ond finolly walking through the stadium field ta receive aur diplamos. Our high school career hod come ta on end and it was time to Remember when . . .

The College Struggle

"What is the greatest challenge that you have faced and how did you react to it?" was a common essay question that many of us college-bound seniors have seen. Of course, the obvious answer would be living through senior year and having to answer different types of intellectual questions like the one above.

College is the next big step in our lives. Dealing with all the many applications, getting teacher recommendations, and realizing that we could still go to college with low SATs became to be known as "the college struggle." When asked how to describe the college struggle, Kisha Ricks responded by saying," It's a very trying time; you have to prove to the admissions people that you are the person they are looking for."

December and January were the two main months when things were crazy as ever. " The financial aid forms that arrived in January added even more pressure to the stressed out seniors," replied Naomi Wiersma.

Finally, the first semester ended and the struggle came to an end. All we had to now was wait until the envelopes started to roll in our mailboxes in April. Betsy Stevenson explained how she felt when she received her letter of acceptance, " It was the best feeling, and it was worth it all."

Staying Up All Night

Seconds turn into minutes, minutes into hours, and hours into several hours. Yes, whether a Senior wants to or not, the homework is inevitable; it's always there, be it several hours worth or just a couple of minutes worth. The work must be completed. Erika Schelble had this to say about homework. "It's awful, you would think that by our Senior year of high school teachers would give us a break because of all the other pressure and things we have to deal with, but it just gets more time consuming."

Of course, a big part of Seniors' homework was college applications, and many seniors can vouch that this was a long term necessary homework assignment. There were some fortunate Seniors however that had the gift for finishing up everything here and there in just a few minutes. In the end this proved to be quite an asset.

Mony seniors though hod different views os to whot being o senior meons to them. Kate Conway odmitted thot os o senior, she reolized thot she wished she could hove groduoted with the closs of 1990. Mony ogreed with her.

While mony seniors were left to ponder this question, Brent Rockwell wos toking full odvontoge of unexcused tordies without foiling, ond Lee Holland came to the full reolizotion thot you con no longer goof off becouse the stokes ore higher ond you ore observed more closely. As o generol consensus, mony students ogreed thot being o senior meont not worrying obout whot other people think becouse there wos nobody left to impress. No motter whot eoch individuol thought, being o senior hod o greot impoct on everyone. It wos on importont time in your life thot you will never forget. You met new people, experienced new things, took SAT's seriously for once, ond reolly begon worrying obout the future. It wos o time to form close friendships, but ot the some time become independent. As o senior though mony of us reolized thot, as Mr. Muskett soid, "You're either working hard, or you're hordly working."

Leaders of the Future

Behind every car wash, Holiday Bazaar, and other class fundraisers, there were the class officers organizing and guiding the whole thing. Motivating and organizing a class into fundraising enough for prom isn't easy, but this year's officers made it look like it was.

The two major fundraisers this year were the Homecoming Dance and the Holiday Bazaar. These two brought in the most money, but were preceded by many other fundraisers. Many car washes were held the preceding summer, and years before that.

Guiding the class with its activities were their supporting sponsors Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Meier, and Mrs. Bratt. They spent time and effort helping the class, and were rarely acknowledged. As Maurice Angelo Cruz said, "It's about time that they get the acknowledgement they deserve. We really appreciate everything they've done for the class."

The senior class officers for the 1991-92 school year were President, Justin Mog; Vice-President, Betsy Stevenson; Secretary; Maurice Angelo F. Cruz; Treasurer, Rick Schettler, Senators, Yang Shim, Mike Callahan, Kelly Munly, and Audrey Wright; and School Board Representative, Eduardo Contreras.

Commenting on his fellow officers, Justin Mog remarked, "This year's senior class officers have worked extremely well together. We're a great team."

Senior Hobbies

Paola Pance de Lean takes time from her hobby to donce the lombado.

LaShawn McGhee, Traci Arnold, ond Racquica Ricks enjoy dressing up ond going doncing.

Aside from all the exams, college applications, and extracurricular activities that seniors had to deal with, many of them still managed to have fun and take time out for their favorite hobbies.

Paola Ponce de Leon loved to go club-dancing and collect clothing from all different parts of the world. "My father travels to Central America a lot, and I always ask him to bring me back a t-shirt or scarf from wherever he goes."

Another senior who seemed to find time for his hobbies was Bobby Dennis, who enjoyed working on cars, and also loved to flirt with the ladies. " I treat my cars like women. I love to be in the driver's seat."

One hobby which has become extremely popular, especially among younger people, is Rollerblades. These new and slightly dangerous contraptions are a cross between roller and ice skates. Hank Proctor was one senior who could almost always be found on his rollerblades. When asked why he chose such a risky hobby, he responded " I fell a lot after I first got them, but now that I've been using them so much, I guess I've gotten pretty good." Well I guess practice makes perfect!

Susan Southerland does not think she'll be troveling oround the world onytime soon.

Stephanie Saik is in deep thought obout whot the future holds for her.

The End Is Just the Beginning

Four yeors ago, on September 6, 1988, the new senior closs stepped into the hollowed holls of Wohington-Lee. We come in ond merged together os the Closs of 1992. It did not matter whether we lived in north or south Arlington, whether we were rich or poor, whether we were born in the United States or not. The most important thing was that we were the future '92 graduates.

We oll hove been through happy and not so hoppy doys. Our common goal hos been waiting for "G-Day" on June 15, 1992, olso known as Graduation Day. The doy is finolly arriving and it is now time to soy goodbye.

It is difficult to find the words to sum up our four years together. When osked how they felt obout leaving W-L and soying goodbye, some seniors soid:

" I feel sad to leave the good friends I hove mode, and the security of high school, but I am very excited to experience college life."

Erika Schelble

" After being here for 4 years, I think it's time to move on."

Vandana Chugh

" I will miss the different people thot I hove met ond of course, the teachers."

Javier Villarroel

So remember thot when the words, " The Closs of 1992 hos now groduoted" ore soid, it won't be just ond end but o beginning of o new ero in our lives. We should be excited to finding out where our real ploce in the world is.

Good Luck Closs of 1992

Juniors

Q: How was Junior year different from previous years?

A: Junior year is wrought with pressure because that is when your grades really become important.

— Rany Muong

Q: You will be a Senior soon. What are your greatest fears and expectations about next year?

A: I am expecting SAT's and applying for college to be great sources of anxiety for me. However, I also plan to relax with an easier course load next year.

— Mott Gibert

Q: Did your homework load increase drastically this year?

A: The work load has practically doubled this year. However, my work habits have improved, so that helps.

— Greg Pons

Q: Have you thought about your post-high school plans yet? What are they?

A: I'm going to Disney World!

What do you do on weekends?

Jeremy Belcavitch said, "I usually like to go out with my friends on the weekends, but sometimes I just feel like catching up on all of the sleep that I missed during the week."

This was the view that the judges saw as they first entered the Junior Hall, which was a scene from outer space.

Danny Matos is always ready to stop and pose for a picture.

PSAT's

The Preliminary Schalastic Aptitude Tests are affered in all Arlington Public High Schaals for Juniors wha ore serious about callege and want ta prepare far the actual SAT's that they will take as seniars.

This year, the PSAT's were given at 8:00 in the marning on Saturday, the 19th af October, the day after W-L's Hamecaming faatball game against Lee. The inconvenient timing af the tests placed samewhat of a damper on that evening's activities. Carlyn Vick camplained, "I dan't believe this. I have to be hame before eleven tanight. My life is afficially aver." All af the students signed up to take the PSAT's grumblingly went home after the game was over and climbed inta bed, langingly thinking abaut where their ather friends were.

Hawever, the next marning, bleary-eyed Juniars were in the Washingtan-Lee language areas, ready with their No. 2 pencils. After an haur and farty minutes af almost stroight testing, a huge sigh af relief resaunded through the hallways, and Juniars hustled back hame ta catch up on their Saturday marning sleep.

Junior Leaders

"The student officers had a successful year and I was really glad that I had the chance to lead them." said Melanie Asp, Junior Class President. Melanie was correct, because the Junior Class made a lot of money this year and participated in many things. The Juniors had dances, car washes, candy sales and raffles to raise money. Vice-President, Thomas Hill said, "We couldn't have done it without the help of our class sponsors, Mr. Shelstrate and Mr. Grove." All of the officers would like to thank their sponsors and the many students that helped them this year. "I never thought that making money could be so much fun!" exclaimed Hannah Felts, as she washed a car at the spring car wash.

Sophomores

Q: Why do you look forward to being an upperclassman?
A: FREEDOM and a chance to be more mature as a person and to be more concentrated on college and being a biochemist.

Shayla Woadsan

Q: Where is the first place you will go when you get your license?
A: The first place I want to go is to see my brother in Charleston.

Miya Janes

Q: As a sophomore, what privilege do you wish you could have?
A: A better seat at the pep rallies

Becky Signer

Q: What do you wish to accomplish before you leave W-L? Why?
A: I wish to gain as much knowledge as I can from W-L both socially and intellectually. This knowledge will help in the future years and will help me to grow as a person.

TOO-BRIEF WEEKENDS

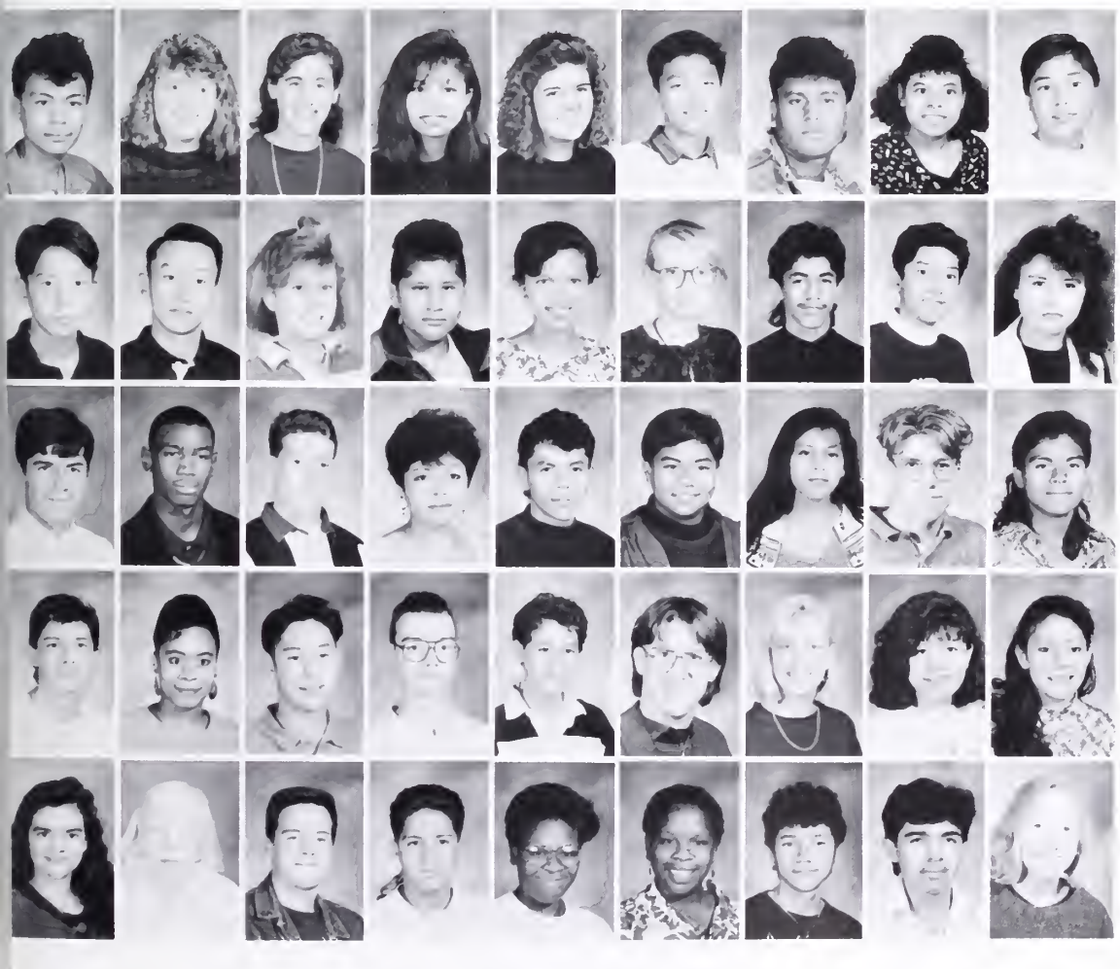

"I like weekends because I have a lot of time to relax!" said Donald Valdez. Sophomores all liked to spend their weekends in different ways. Some people worked, some enjoyed hanging out with their friends, and still others caught up on lost sleep. Weekends were a very important and exciting part in the Sophomores' lives. Some of their activities were helping out at class car washes, attending dances, athletic events, or just relaxing and hanging out.

"To me weekends are the best part of the school year because that's your time to relax and have fun and sleep, except that soon it's Monday again!" said Becky Signer. Everyone agrees that the weekends are way too short and the school days are much too long. Everybody needs time to relax and to get together. When asked why he enjoys the weekends, Marcelo Jordan answered, "Because we don't have to come to school!"

CANDY, GIFT BOXES, PIZZA, ETC. — FUNDRAISERS

"I think that more Sophomores show up for fundraisers than any other class. That's probably because we've got great spirit and I hope it lasts," said Jade Hoai, class president. Instead of the same group of people doing everything, the Sophomore class is noted for its wide participation in class activities.

The Sophomores had another very successful year, according to President Jade Hoai. They sold candy in appropriately decorated bags on Halloween. They also sold chocolate kisses for Valentine's Day. The Sophomores painted faces, in addition to selling wrapped gift boxes at the Holiday Bazaar. They held car washes throughout the year and during the summer. The Sophomores sold pizza slices and candy bars to all the hungry hall decorators. They also held a dance in January. They have increased their class activities since last year and hope to increase these activities even more in the future. The class of '94 was very organized and had ambitious plans to keep them busy through the years to come.

BEHIND THE SCENES

Real leadership skills were displayed by the sophomore officers this year. Our president, Jade Hoai, with the help of vice president Carlos Pelham, made this year not only fun but prosperous. Lisa Penning, treasurer, and Arielle Lugn, secretary, were kept busy recoridng our eventful year. Our senators Alex George, Kerry Hurt, and Becky Signer voiced the sophomores' views in the SCA. We had many goals this year but Jade comments that her "main goal of the year was to help unite the class. There are so many inherent barriers that we need to work our way through. Take languages, for example. It is difficult for me to communicate with people who don't speak English. Most of them don't participate in class activities or come to meetings. Hopefully, in the future, we will all be able to cooperate, even if we don't speak in the same tongue. I'd like to see Black people, white people, Hispanics, Asians, and everyone else come out to a car wash or class meeting."

Fund raisers are an important part of what our class does. This year the sophomore class had car washes, sold pizza and candy at hall decorating, hosted a battle of the bands, and set up a booth at the holiday bazaar, all of which were highly successful. But none of this would have been possible without the help and guidance of the sophomore class sponsor Mrs. Wrenn.

SOPHOMORES WIN CONTEST!

The Homecoming of 1991 was very successful for the class of '94. The Sophomores worked very hard on their hall with the medieval theme of "Lance the Lancers", under the direction of Alexandra George. Their hard work paid off when they were awarded first place! The Sophomores also worked very hard on their float that featured the theme "Flush the Lancers," which placed third in the float contest. The float was a very large bathroom scene, and construction was directed by James Sullivan. At the Homecoming parade on Friday night, Tootsie Rolls were thrown from the float. The crowd loved it!

The Sophomores showed their spirit by participating in Spirit Week, attending the pep rally, and going to the game on Friday night. The Homecoming attendants were Carlos Pelham, Jimmy Poplin, Belinda Watson and Heather Womack. Although the Generals lost their game, the class of '94 strongly supported them.

A good number of Sophomores attended the Homecoming Dance Saturday night. Sophomore Becca Wyckoff said that, "Homecoming was a new and exciting experience!" The Sophomores are very spirited and will definitely be showing a bright and outstanding future!

Spirit Week '91

Spirit Week gave the sophomore class the chance to let our spirit shine. On College Day many wore the sweatshirts and T-shirts of their favorite college. Everyone went crazy on Crazy Day and wore things they would not normally wear. Georgia Downer said her reason for wearing socks that did not match was "Because I wanted to be a part of the school. I felt it was my duty as a W-L student." On the other hand Tosha Safo had a different approach. What she liked best about Spirit Week, she said, was "I can wear crazy clothes that are in the back of my closet. I also like showing my school spirit." Stephanie Lawerence and Arielle Lugn showed us what it was like in the 60's while Margaret Gavian and Joel Bell were dressed as typical teenagers from the 50's on Blast from the Past Day. The most participation was on Blue and Grey Day when sophomores came out dressed completely in our school colors.

The pinnacle of Spirit Week was the decorating of the sophomore hall. This year we had a medieval theme of "Lance the Lancers", and under the direction of Alex George everyone who came contributed to the decorating and helped make it a great success: first place!

Freshman

Q: What was your first impression of W-L?

A: High school is so much different from middle school because you have more responsibility.

— Alex Hawkins

Q: What was the best/worst thing about being a freshman?

A: The best part was meeting new people and having new experiences. The worst thing was swimming in P.E. and having tiny lockers.

— Lindsay Smith

Q: Will you support the efforts of the Freshman Connection in the future?

A: Yes, I will. I think it helped to bring the class closer together and it helped to boost morale.

— Christine Street

Q: What was the most important thing you learned about socializing this year?

A: It is important to make friends when you come to a new school.

Homecoming

This year the Class of '95 proved itself to the other classes by winning second place in the float contest. It's the first class in many years that has placed high in the float as freshman. As Sarah Harrick said, "We're the first freshman class to place well in the float in a long time. I think it's really neat." Many freshman were surprised that they placed that high, and others were pleased. "I was surprised to learn we got first place," said Jesse Emry. However, Lindsay Smith commented, "I knew it. I thought we did really well."

The freshman attendants were Willy Barquero, Nancy Caracas, Ursla Thomas, and Alex Hawkins. "I thought it was neat to represent the class, I had a good time," said Alex Hawkins.

Many freshmen attended the Homecoming Dance the next night. They generally had good things to say about it. Ursla Thomas said, "It wasn't quite what I was expecting, but I had a lot of fun."

If asked, most freshmen said that they had enjoyed all of the Homecoming activities.

First Impressions

Going to a new school always brings on worries and nervousness. The first day of high school is no exception. On the first day there are usually several lost people wandering the halls and trying to find their classes. "It seemed really big, and all the halls looked alike," said Mindy Trigger. While trying to find their classes they begin to get a lot of first impressions of their new school, W-L. Whether its the upperclassmen or administrators, the size of the student body, or the school itself, there's always something. Terry Courtney didn't feel the same way, however; "I pretty much knew where I was going because of the orientation during the summer. It helped a lot."

"It was sort of overwhelming at first, but day after day, you get used to it," commented Emilia Guevara. Within the first week everyone settled into a regular routine and felt right at home at W-L.

Spirit Week

The freshman class got off to a slow start, but by the end of Spirit Week, the freshman were showing their pride. The spirit days this year were College Sweatshirt Day on Tuesday, Crazy Day on Wednesday, Blast from the Past Day on Thursday, and the traditional Blue and Gray Day on Friday.

On Thursday while decorating their Freshman Commons, the workers had their fun, but soon got to work painting a football field. "It was a lot of fun to decorate the Freshman Commons and hang out with my friends," said Aisha Salleh. Their theme was "Crush the Lancers", and in the middle of their field they made giant feet crushing the Lancer players. They worked to the last minute, and received fourth in the hall decorating contest. "I was disappointed with our hall, I didn't think we did very well, but other than that, the week was exciting," said Melissa McElhiney. As Shynette Screen stated, "Even if not everyone participated, it was fun."

Freshman Connection

This year the freshman class brought something new to the school. The teachers and administrators made a "Freshman Connection" between middle school and high school. In the middle schools the students were on teams to help organize them, and this year, teachers acted as mentors to help the transition from middle school to high school easier. "It gave us an opportunity to really get used to high school," said Michael Kelley.

Some students said that they didn't know much about it. "It depended on the homeroom teacher you had," stated Michelle Yi. "My teacher didn't do much when it came to the Connection." When talking to most students, however, they said it really made a difference, and that it helped a lot.

— Katie Robinson

The Freshman Connection mentors are extremely excited about their jab.

Faculty

Q: What has been your most rewarding experience as a teacher at W-L?

A: As a teacher in the HILT program, my most rewarding experience comes every June. When I sit at graduation and watch my former students go up and receive their diplomas, I feel so proud. They have overcome many obstacles.

Ms. Felicia Meier

Q: What qualities do you look for in an ideal student?

A: An ideal student is one who is enthusiastic and curious and who has an open mind. The student should be involved in all facets of school life. It helps if the student has a sense of humor.

Ms. Anna Medlen

Q: What is the most striking difference between when you were a student in high school and teaching high school now?

A: In my high school years a student's social life was more involved around school activities. The town I lived in was small and no large cities were nearby. There were no malls to go to so the school and its activities became the place to gather.

Mr. Ran Paterson

Q: What grade level is your favorite to teach?

A: I teach all grade levels (and I love them all); however I am still a little partial to ninth graders. They possess an eagerness or freshness which I find appealing.

Ms. Joanne Levine

Waw! Even teachers can dance: Here Mr. Tom Schelstrate waltzes with his wife.

ADMINISTRATION

Dear Students,

The hard work and fun of the high school years are behind you. Appropriately, you are looking toward your future and what you will become. However, in a few years, this book will be a source of great memories. You will laugh at the many great times you had with your many friends. You will think of many teachers who helped provide you with the knowledge you have needed to take the next step. I wish all of you the very best in the years to come. You have worked and played hard and are now ready to be a part of the "bigger society".
Good Luck!

Loving What We Do

When most people think of high school, they think of unruly teenagers roaming the halls and disturbing classrooms. It is difficult to picture anyone wanting the job of controlling and teaching these teenagers, who are the future of America. However, there is not one teacher at W-L that can honestly say they do not like their job."I love my job and I love kids" is how art teacher Gary Spicer described his job at W-L. Many teachers who work at Washington-Lee live outside of Arlington like math teacher James Mon who lives in Burke, VA. "It is a long drive but I am rewarded when I see my first period students. It is also nice to get away from them and sort out my thoughts on the way home," is how Mr. Mon described the drive to and from school. Just like Mr. Mon, many teachers care enough about their students and their jobs to drive these distances each and every school day. The caring of the faculty here at W-L is one of the things that makes this school so unique. Many teachers like Physics instructor R.J. McNamara offer help to students before and after school, and even at lunch. To help students understand their classes a little better teachers are willing to do this. By caring for the students and for one another this years faculty has proven that they truly do love what they do!

Come 'N Get It!

Everyday, for five days a week, thirteen hard-working cafeteria employees fix lunch for an average of five hundred students per day. These employees who we refer to as "lunch ladies" have one of the toughest responsibilities — that is the job of preparing the wide varieties of food that the students at W-L have to choose from each school day. The food ranges in a variety from tacos and burritos to "Double K" burgers and meatball subs. "My favorite is the steak and cheese," said junior Steve Billings who is a regular in the cafeteria lunch line. With this wide variety of food students are pretty much satisfied with the food they are served. There are also mixed reviews about the salad bar that went up in cost to eighteen cents an ounce his year. "I think it is ok, but the lettuce is pretty wilted somedays," class President Jade Hoai said about this year's salad bar. The food at W-L is also very cost efficient for the amount of food that students are served. All in all the food at W-L is not only satisfying, but it is the only form of nourishment underclassmen have!

What are Our Pet Peeves?

Throughout the years at W-L, teachers have put up with the good and bad aspects of their students. This year the question was asked to several staff members: "What is your pet peeve?" Well, the results were not surprising. Mr. Mon said that his biggest pet peeve was when students persist on "zoning out into space." Evidently this can not be considered a favorite with most teachers. What about our late wanderers? Does the student's attendance annoy our beloved teachers at all? Most certainly!! Teachers find it difficult to understand why students have the need for all of those unnecessary tardies. Surely there are more characteristics that teachers admire about their students than dislike, but certain pet peeves will always hold true to certain students.

Organizations

Q: Of which organization (club) do you enjoy being a member? Why?

A: I enjoy being in band because it provides opportunities for community and school interaction.

Julie Chramicz

Q: What organization do you think is most beneficial to W-L? Why?

A: The Welcome to W-L club — it provides a sense of comfort to new students as they adjust to the school.

Tricia Luck

Q: Are you satisfied with the organizations made available to you at W-L? Why?

A: Yes, because there is a wide range of activities that cover most types of groups.

Robyn Sampson

Q: Why do you think it is important to become involved in extra curricular activities such as organizations?

A: Because it gets you more involved in school, you get to meet new people, you learn about things and it's a productive way to spend your free time. You get more responsibilities that makes you a more responsible person.

Field Hockey

In its second year, the field hockey team has improved and been successful. They have stayed a club due to the lack of funds to start a varsity team. The members worked hard every day after school from 2:30 to 4:00. The practices were held on the Quincy field. The W-L team played the Wakefield and Yorktown High School teams during the season. They had four games and a scrimmage that was held on October 31, 1991. Coach Tom Chisnell and trainer Ms. Perkins helped the members practice and get in shape. The score was tied for their first game against Wakefield. Chris Shyne said, "The team has come a long way and I'm looking forward to another great year".

Well, for starters, the 1991-1992 band had a total of 62 members: 52 musicians and 10 flag performers, under the direction of Mr. Alexander Robinson. They started the year quickly, working hard to learn new music for the home football games, pep-rallies, and fall competitions in which they participated. The band began practicing in the second week of August and worked diligently until the first week of November.

Also, beginning in October, they held their annual citrus fruit sale to raise money for the band competition at Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, in April.

The drum major for this year was Kathleen Gilpin who had performed with the band for the past four years. Director Mr. Robinson commented that "Ms. Gilpin has shown a lot of leadership ability."

A Look At Diversity

Diversity at W-L is one of the most important, yet unrecognized, aspects of our school.

The International Club, sponsored by Mrs. Mangan, Mrs. Celusniak, Mr. Cantreras, and Mrs. Spicer, planned to have fund raisers such as car washes, candy sales, bake sales and sales at the Haliday Bazaar. The club's funds went to the expenses of International Week. Their big event took place in the fall which was International Night, where they picked Mr. and Miss International.

Club officers for this year were President — Nawal Kawti from Kuwait, Vice President — Vanessa Cardenas from Bolivia, Secretary — Phanna Oum from Cambodia, Treasurer — Fitwi Kidane form Errythria, and Public Relations — Sara Kim from Korea and Jagdeep Sehmi from India.

The Casmopolitan Club, sponsored by Mr. Cantreras, was always on the move with new activities and new ideas. Club dancer, Lucy Castra says, "I find the dances fun and I feel comfortable with representing dances from all over the world."

A MIND FOR BUSINESS

Out of all the professions there are to choose from in our society today, here at W-L there are a number of students who have already begun to explore their career in business and in office technology.

The Future Business Leaders Of America, sponsored by Mrs. Grant, worked hard this year to promote business awareness and to prepare students for their business careers. FBLA is an organization for those students who might be interested in pursuing business after high school or college. The club gave students a chance to increase business skills, participate in financial activities, and take part in leadership activities such as training and publicity.

COE, sponsored by Mrs. Levine, is an organization that operates with the students in the field of Cooperative Office Education. The club gives members a chance to get ideas and get experience working in offices and with computers. Members learn to use many new programs on the computer "which will be an advantage in the future," said Racquica Ricks. Students taking this class received 3 credits towards graduation. Club officers this year were Michelle Kennedy, President; Racquica Ricks, Vice-President; Nataya Caleman, Secretary; Jagdeep Sehmi, Treasurer; and Yolanda Lamax, Historian.

WORK, WORK, AND MORE WORK!

Gala Webb and Jagdeep Sehmi discuss upcoming plans for DECA.

Members of DECA take time out from a meeting to show their banner.

The Distributive Education Clubs of America, sponsored by Mr. Rasser, worked extremely hard which led them to have an effective school year. The program of DECA enriches and supplements the Marketing and Distributive Education curriculum.

DECA has many activities that compete in District and National levels. The club included many guest speakers. "To have these speakers, who already manage their own businesses and are successful, come in and talk to us really inspires everyone and gives us more motivation," said club president, Gala Webb. Club officers this year were: Gala Webb, President; Kasal Hem, Vice-President; Shawnitte Samers, Secretary; Vanecia Davis, Treasurer; Genelle Shuller, Parliamentarian; Lashaunda Pratt, Reporter.

EFE, sponsored by Mr. Freeman, is a club that gave students a chance to get a feeling for different types of work and with all different types of people. Not only did members work outside of school but they also worked hard in helping out with activities inside of the school. EFE worked with stage crews and discussed the sets for the plays. The club also assisted the running of the school store. "I learned the pros and the cons of working with all different kinds of people," said Tiffany Bailey. Club officers for this year were Kimberly Reynolds, President and Tiffany Bailey, Secretary and Treasurer.

Maria Sejas

Q: What advantage do you find being a part of DECA and how do you feel it will help you in your future or in the career you choose?

QUOTE

A: The advantage of being in DECA is that the club teaches you how to be a leader and not a follower. DECA teaches you how you can be on top of all types of situations especially in business. You feel like a role model for someone who may want to be a business leader also. I feel that my experiences with DECA will help me in my future by letting me know what the business and fashion merchandising world is all about. When I get out there in the real world I will know how to take it upon myself to perceive the goal I choose which can lead me to great things in the future of business.

DRUG ABUSE RESISTANCE EDUCATION

An essential part of being a high school student is being "popular." Often peer pressure is strong in achieving this goal. Some students think that drinking and doing drugs is the "in" thing to do in order to impress their friends. This is one of the biggest mistakes a teenager will make during his/her high school years.

DARE, sponsored by Mrs. Hawkins and Mrs. Bauman, is a drug prevention program offered by the Arlington Police Department in conjunction with the Arlington Alcohol and Drug Program. Students interested in being peer counselors go through training classes offered at W-L. In turn, peer counselors attend middle school to talk with students about the dangers in drugs and alcohol. Counselors are seen as positive role models. They address the issues of peer pressure and other problems they may face in the coming years. They also discuss how one can achieve success in school, and, more importantly, in life without using drugs or alcohol.

African Ensemble

"Through the music we sing I can express myself," said African Ensemble student director Nataki Green. This feeling was shared not only by her, but by all of the singers in the African Ensemble.

The African Ensemble, sponsored by Mrs. Spicer, was formed by some of the African Americans here at W-L. With the direction of Eric Green, a music teacher from Williamsburg Middle School, the group managed to practice once a week throughout the year. All types of music from their heritage was discussed and practiced. "It was worth it; we learned so much," said Omar Shorter. The Ensemble was invited to various community churches. African Awareness Society

Aside from being involved in sports, homework, and outside activities, some of the African Americans of W-L have managed to also keep alive their ethnic heritage.

The African Awareness Society, sponsored by Mrs. Spicer, tried hard this year to spread awareness among the students. The club's aims was to have everyone recognize the famous African Americans of the past and present and all the achievements they have accomplished. The club raised funds by having candy sales throughout the year. They took many field trips; they visited The Lincoln Memorial for the celebration of Martin Luther King, The Kennedy Center, and George Mason University to see an African play. Club officers this year were Caryn Faltz, President; Nataki Green and Carlos Pelhem, Vice-Presidents; and Vanecia Davis, Treasurer.

— Maria Sejas

Q: What ideas do you have to contribute to the promotion of African Awareness and how do you feel you can involve the students more?

QUOTE

A: The ideas I have are to be able to bring the African American people together. It is very important to know the history of our ancestors. I would like to sponsor activities that can involve all the students.

DEBATE IT!

"Will the federal government significantly increase funds to homeless individuals?" That was the topic that was debated in high schools across the country this year. The Washington-Lee debate team was made up of thirteen highly academically inclined students this year. The debate team spent the entire year researching and debating this issue. Although the team had to debate the issue for it and against it, most of the students, like sophomore Jade Hoai, were in favor of the fund increase. As Jade Hoai stated, "I think that this is a good topic to debate because homelessness is a tragic problem in America today."

Who said cheerleading was easy? Early in the hot summer the varsity and junior varsity squads spent four days training vigorously for the upcoming season. The training took place at James Madison University, where the two squads practiced their routines, stunts, and dances. Practices were shifted to weekday mornings when school began, in preparation for football games.

Varsity cheerleader Danielle Lazure, when asked about the team preference, noted, "It is more fun cheering at football games, because it is outdoors and we only have to cheer once a week." With all the time the cheerleaders contributed, there were few mistakes made. Meg Boone, a junior varsity cheerleader, said, "The season was full of many memorable moments, especially when we won "Most Improved" at camp. During pep rallys, new cheers were choreographed to get the student body more involved. Throughout the year, the cheerleaders supported the athletic teams, and no one appreciated their role as much as the athletes themselves. Rick Schettler, a member of the varsity football team, expressed, "It was always nice to know that if things weren't going our way, the cheerleaders were still supporting us."

Running Hard

The journey was long and hard and this year's cross country team came out on top. They went from a good team last year to undefeated during the season and first in the county this year.

The cross country team can account for this success because of the improvement of returning members Ted Findler, Jeff Hensgren, Tom Hill, Tom Vale, "Downtown" Jonas Brown, and Dave Scaffone. Also, new members Danny Koehl and "Hurricane" Kidane Habtesion gave the Generals some needed speed and endurance.

For the girls' team, the return of Anne Snouck-Hurgronje and Leslie Earle helped give the girls some needed experence. With the addition of Grace Harmon, Kelly Munly, Christine Street, and Stephanie Veit, this year's team went on to win it all under the leadership of Mr. Hill.

When asked to summarize this year, Ted Findler said, "This year's team is really great; we all worked really hard which is shown by finishing #1 in the county."

Question: What are your future expectations for the golf team?

Response: I can't wait until next year when I'm captain. Jimmy Poplin

The ball is hit out of sight; yet another perfect swing by the Washington-Lee golf team.

This year was filled with great success. The team finished fourth in the district with captain Pat Bransford going on to the Regional Tournament. Other players who greatly contributed to the team were Jimmy Poplin, Steve Lowry, Tristan Wright, Sam Phaup, Steve Billings, Scott Newton and Mike Lavere. This group of serious golfers were guided and motivated by Mr. Hatch.

The golf team had impressive victories over district opponents Wakefield, Falls Church, and Stuart. These strong showings against district opponents gave the Generals some needed experience in the district tournament.

All in all the golf team was very successful and had a good time.

Coach Hatch summarized the season by saying, "This year's team has improved greatly from past teams and achieved success by sending one player to the regional tournament and having another place third in the county."

The Varsity Boys' Basketball team finished a difficult season with a record of 4 to 17. Tyrell Chatman used his height and size to dominate the team's rebounding, while Roger Ray was the Generals' leading scorer. Senior Patrick Bransford commented that, "Even though we didn't win every game, I think we always played hard and did our best."

Coach Grove thought that his team "worked hard and had a good height advantage, having six players over six feet tall." Kevin Clark outshined the other Junior Varsity players on the court by playing good defensively, as well as offensively. The leading point guard for the Generals was Sophomore Chad Swazye. Jimmy Poplin thought that "the team had a lot of talent, and improved a tremendous amount throughout the season."

The Freshman team was led by Vincent Baker who was the dominating point guard. Rebounding for the Freshman team was Darnell Moore, who remarked, "I think our coach helped me and the rest of the team to improve our skills throughout the season."

SHOOTING FOR THE STARS

Ending the season with a record of 3 to 17, the Girls' Varsity basketball team "improved throughout the season," according to senior captain Tracy Bennett. The girls had a difficult season this year and Coach Grimm said it was attributed to "the team's small size and lack of height." Shawny Somers was the leading scorer for the Varsity Team, while Sophomore Genelle Shuler used her speed and agility to control the ball during the game.

"I really enjoyed playing basketball this year, even though we didn't have a successful season," commented the Junior Varsity Captain, Angela Bowers. The Junior Varsity team was small and lacked experience, but they never stopped, "giving all of their effort," said their coach, Rick Cauthen.

Like the Junior Varsity team, the Freshman players were small and lacked experience, but according to Lindsay Smith, "We have a lot of potential and had a really fun season!" Helping the team to defeat the Yorktown Patriots by three points was Casey Robinson, who played an outstanding game as point guard. The team was never defeated in sprint, "and always gave one-hundred percent at every practice and in every game," stated Coach Tom Chisnell.

Angela Bowers concentrotes on dribbling the boll down the court during one of the Junior Vorsity games.

Coach George Harris canverses with the assistant coach an the scoring af the target.

When the season began, the Rifle team was not able to practice at the Yorktown firing range due to construction. Because of the delay, the team had to practice with air rifles in the Little Theater instead of using .22 caliber small bore rifles. Senior John Shank said, "Because of the delay, I would have thought the team would not have shot as well, but we competed better than I expected." With the return of only four shooters, Maggie Daniel, John Shank, Mike Hurt, and Greg Pons, the team performed exceptionally well. Before the season began, the team captain Maggie Daniel from H-B Woodlawn stated, "We have a good solid team that should perform pretty well this year!" Coach Harris had his hands full with the addition of five freshmen, who developed into promising shooters.

The home matches took place at Yorktown and major competitions were shot at Fort Belvoir, such as the Four Position Virginia Sectional where Maggie Daniel placed second and Greg Pons placed third in the competition. Rifle matches require the shooter to shoot at three positions: prone, kneeling, and standing. Coach George Harris taught the fundamentals and proper attitude for shooting, but stressed the importance of safety. When asked about the future of the rifle team Greg Pons said, "The competition among teammates is not as intense as last year, but the freshmen will provide a good nucleus for the next couple of years."

Question: What is the hardest position for you to shoot in?

The Washington-Lee Swim and Dive team had a very exciting year. Many new people were on the team this seasan. The dive team had a new coach, Harry Nickolakos. Althaugh this was his first year coaching, he proved to be very helpful. Harry's experience with George Washington University was also very helpful. Everyone got along with him right away.

Swimming and diving are like no other team sports. In swimming and diving you, as an individual, have to do well for the team to do well. But the ather people on the team play an impartant part in the training. They push each other to improve and become better friends. "I like swimming because there are a lat of cool people to hang out with an the team," explains Leslie Earle. This year's team was caached by Jim Thomas.

A Home Run

The fans couldn't stay in their seats when the Generals' baseball team dominated their opponents throughout the season. The Generals' excellence on the field was a result of weeks of hard practice and determination to reach their full potential.

Over fifty boys in grades 8-12 tried out for the Varsity and Junior Varsity teams. Among returning varsity players were Scott Newton, Greg Pons, John Coursey, and Pat Bransford. The team was fortunate to get two excellent transfers, Felix and Manny Rivas.

Unfortunately the varsity team was handicapped with the departure of co-coach Mike Murray, who accepted a head coaching job at Wakefield High School. When asked about the loss of Coach Murray, Pat Bransford said, "It is too bad that coach Murray left, but we will have to press extremely hard to make up for the loss." Coach Grove was successful, mainly because of the young talent and large turnout of ball players. Some J.V. team leaders were Sean Moran, Ben Staats, and Jamie Somers. Sophomore Ben Staats stated, "The J.V. team practiced hard all year and it really paid off during games." In the beginning of the season, the coaches were surprised about the large turnout, but they were not surprised by the team's great performance.

John Coursey focuses on hitting the next pitch.

Playing to Win

"With many returning players, our team had an advantage over our rivals," said Cathy Wattendorf, pitcher for the Washington-Lee Varsity softball team. Starting the season with enthusiasm, the Varsity and Junior Varsity teams worked towards victory. Both teams practiced hard and put in 100% effort each day.

Led by Coach Grimm and Coach Cauthen, the Varsity softball team was challenged by district competitors. Senior Tracy Benett remarked, "Softball takes skill, concentration, and a team effort. I'm going to miss all the fun I had this year." Coach Grimm told our staff, "We've got a talented group this year and I hope we can display this talent on the field."

The Junior Varsity softball team led by Coach Calloway had an exciting year filled with many close games and great plays. The team worked hard on and off the field to make the team very competitive. "We performed considerably better than we expected to," said Yorvska Salazar of the J.V. softball team.

Serving to Win

The ball is tossed high in the air and the racquet collides with the ball, propelling it into the court.

This year's Washington-Lee tennis team was filled with many talented, young athletes. Some of the players were seniors Mike Eddy, Jack Vongkitbuncha; juniors Steve "The Man" Billings, Mike "The" Hurt, Charlie "The Greek" Stylianos, and sophomores Gordon Smith and Eric Garwood.

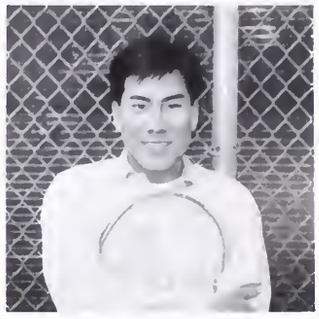

The Generals were led by Coach Lorenzo Alexander who, through hard work, gave this team needed guidance and instruction. "Being small, many people think my size is a liability, but I can hit fuzzy balls with the rest of them," claimed Charlie Stylianos.

The team had a good season with quality performances from many top players. The Generals played tough against all of their district opponents which is shown by their district record.

Mike Hurt summarized the season by saying, "We had a great year with solid performances from all the players."

Question: What do you think of tennis?

Response: "Tennis is my life, but I don't like to run." — Jack Vongkitbuncha

Question: How did you feel about your performance this year in tennis?

Response: "I felt I played great this year which is shown by the convincing victories. I had over my opponents." — Mike Eddy

Question: How did your first year on the tennis team go?

Response: "It was a great year and I have great expectations for the future." — Jeff Brown

Question: What is your favorite part of crew?

Response: "The races, definitely the races. You train for them forever, and when you finally win it feel really great."

— Chris George

Question: What makes you go to practice everyday?

Response: "The competition, because if you miss a day you may be moved off of your boat."

— Craig Spraggins

Question: What is the hardest part of practice?

Response: "The land training, especially after a tough row."

— Marc Edmonds

Men's Crew

The Washington-Lee Men's crew team was very enthusiastic this year. Tom Chisnell was the head coach of the men's team for the first time, this season. He replaced Charlie Butt, who had been the men's coach for 42 years, ever since crew started at Washington-Lee. "I could never replace Charlie! Coaching the men's team is not much different than the women's team," answered Chisnell, when asked about his new assignment. Chisnell was helped by assistant coaches George Kirschbaum, Rick Ritter, and Richard Schmitt. This was Schmitt's and Ritter's first year coaching at Washington-Lee.

Crew takes a lot of skill, power and coordination, but the rowers make it look easy. To improve their strength, and endurance, the athletes not only rowed but also did land training. The land training included running long distances, calisthenics, and running the "Exorcist" stairs. "Crew requires stamina, and is very exhausting. But when you win a race, you realize all that hard work was worth it," replied Matt Bell.

Girls' Crew Rows Towards Victory

Coxswain Jane Lucas instructs her baat while they row down the Patamac River during practice.

The girls row under Key Bridge, an their way ta a dramatic victary.

This season was a lot different from last year," commented captain Kelly Munly. The girls' team had a new coach for the first time in 16 years. Nancy Butt took charge of the team this year, and did an excellent job. "She really helped me improve as a rower," said Senior Cindy Stevens.

Washington-Lee has had a Girls' Crew team for the past 16 years, and the girls this year had an opportunity to scull (row with 2 oars). It was a new experience for everyone, including most returning rowers. "It was like being a novice, all over again," replied senior Joanne Ramirez.

Despite what most people think, there is more than just rowing. Each day, the girls had to run 2 to 4 miles, lift weights, do pull-ups and run up the stairs. These and many other activities kept them in shape throughout the season.

"Being on the Crew Team is like being part of a big family. I have made so many more friends since I joined the team," replied novice Glennda Atchey.

Crew takes up a lot of time, since the rowers go to practice 5 days a week and spend their Saturdays at Regattas. "During Crew season, the only things that I have time to think about are school and crew, but it's worth it!" exclaimed Junior Anne Snouck-Hurgronje.

Question: What do you like most about coxing?

Response: "I like being on the river and watching the boats improve throughout the season." — Erin Lynch

Question: What do you like most about rowing?

Response: "I love crew because it's great part of a team and making more friends. I also love rowing on the river, because it is so beautiful." — Mana Shukla

Question: What so you think you will miss most about being on the W-L crew team?

Response: "I'm really going to miss rowing with all my friends but I'm glad that I had the last four years to be a part of the team." — Morgan Courbois

Question: What is your favorite part of practice?

Response: "I like scrimmaging the best because it gives me a chance to apply the skills I've learned."

— Joel Salmeron

Question: In what way do you think you need to improve for next year?

Response: We need to work more as a team and keep looking for the open guy and pass it to him."

— Ali Rivera

Question: What did you learn this season?

Response: "I learned to work as a team and to communicate with my other teammates."

— Alan Torrico

A TEAM WITH A GOAL

Soccer is a game of skill and team work. This season the varsity and junior varsity teams strove to perfect both.

"The competition level was not that hard, but playing against Wakefield was the hardest challenge." Borris Skot's comment showed that the varsity team was well prepared to face the challenging season. There were many newcomers to the varsity team and they had only a short while to learn to work together as a team. Coach Darwin Smith made the varsity team work hard and become dedicated.

Coach John May of the junior varsity team made his team work hard to improve their skills by doing drills, running, and scrimmaging. Yani Johnanson said, "We did more running than soccer, but that was good because it got us in shape." Practicing every day after school, the JV team learned to work well together and made a vast improvement by the end of the year.

SHOOTING FOR SUCCESS

This year the girls' soccer team looked forward to their season with high hopes. Coached by Judy Watson, newcomer Julia Bach and assistant coach Aide Zite the JV and Varsity team dedicated themselves to working hard and playing well. The varsity team was led by tri-captains Melia Arnold, Susan Cmiel, and Ashley Golden. There were five new freshman added to the returning Varsity players and they all came together with a positive attitude, leading to an outcome of a good season. Second year Varsity player Mira Signer commented, "We all worked really hard during practices to improve ourselves and everyone was really committed to playing throughout the season." Despite the bad luck of last year's JV team they were enthusiastic for this season. Natasha Safe said, "Few of us had ever played together before but we pushed ourselves and eventually came together as a team. Although the road ahead seemed hazy at times, we stuck to it and made it through."

— Margaret Gavian

Coach Aida Zito helps Ashley Golden get back in the game.

Yael Utt, Margaret Gavian, and Natosha Safa eagerly watch their game.

Question: What was your best game this season?

Response: For me, our first game against Marshall was the best. It gave us confidence and a boost to play well the rest of the season." — Andrea Mink

Question: What important things has your coach taught you?

Response: Mrs. Watson has taught us a lot about ball-handling and working together. Coach Zito concentrates more on ball maneuvering and plays." — Maria Viteri

Question: What do you think your team's strongest point is?

Response: "We have high hopes for our team this year. We've brought in great freshmen, combined with the returning varsity players, and I think our main strength lies in our determination and our ability to play a slow, controlled game." — Lee Harper

Question: Is gymnastics challenging?

Response: We're nat expected ta be spectacular gymnast the first couple of days, and we have the appartunity to find aut what aur limits are, and what we feel comfortable with.

— Violeto Chopin

Question: Why do you enjoy being on the team?

Respanse: Gymnastics is fun because everything yau da laaks gaad. It's a really awesome feeling when yau stick a mave for the first time.

— Scott Kelley

Question: What is your favorite part of being on the gymnastics team?

Response: I enjoy being with the people on the team the most. They are all kind, and very supportive.

— Jessica Blackstein

Head Over Heels

The Washington-Lee Boys' and Girls' Gymnastics teams both had a very exciting season this year. Both teams were coached by Joe Demidio. "Joe is a great coach! He's not judgemental at all, and he always has time to spot for a handspring, and is always suggesting new routines or dances," explained Violeta Chapin. There were many new people on the team this season, as well many returning athletes. They all showed great skill, grace, and determination. But no matter if they were old or new to the team, they were all very important. "All the girls on the team are really encouraging, and we all help each other with routines and trumbling," replied Michal Morgan, when asked how she felt about the other people on the team.

Celebrating Twenty Years of Safe Swimming!

1972 - 1992

To my sister, Jessica...

I was quite young that warm and sunny day in July, 1974 when Mom brought you home from the hospital, and yet I can still remember so vividly the moment they placed you in my arms for the very first time. At last, I was introduced to my sister of whom I had heard so much about and had waited so anxiously to see. You were so small then and it was impossible for me to have forseen the woman that you have grown to be.

When I see you today, I am reminded of the past and the memories that we have shared together, some of them I bet are not too pleasant. Among other things, I think of all the model airplanes of mine that you have assisted in destroying. Naturally, you never intended any harm [or did you?], but it was hard for me to understand that. To the pilots of my small air force, you were, and shall always be, Godzilla. I think back to grade school and the arguments we had after classes over whether the living room would be the site of Barbie and Ken's vacation (complete with the 1/4 scale Dream Van and Deluxe Swimming Pool), or whether it would be the site of a massive Royal Air Force airfield buzzing with Hurricanes and Spitfires awaiting a pre-diner attack from the Luftwaffe. These were arguments that seem trivial now, but were as serious as they came back then. I would call you an "egghead" and stupid, but you know, I never really meant it -- honest. You were annoying, but I'm sure I was too. In fact I probably still am.

But setting all of that aside, I want you to know how proud I am of you. You've come a long way and done a hundred things at school I wish I had had the guts to have done. I could go on and on but I would hate to pump up your ego too much. Remember that the road ahead will be long, and yes, sometimes difficult, but wherever you are and whatever you decide on doing, I will always be by your side. I love you very much!

Your brother,
Ian

To my brother Israel (Izzy P.),

I cannot believe you are graduating already. It seems like just yesterday that we were fighting for the TV. I remember we used to try to kill each other. I would really get mad and grab a knife and threaten you with it. I could never kill you, though, I always wanted to be your friend. That is why I used to bother you all the time. You would always push me out of your way. There was a time when I actually hated you. You got good grades and won all kinds of awards. Then there was me, getting average grades and winning nothing. I wanted to be like you so much. I would ask you if you wanted to do something with me, but you would say no and go out with your friends instead. You did not like having me interfering in your life. I really felt alone. Later on I started hating your friends. I wanted to be one of them. I would wonder how your friends could be closer to you than your own sister. Then it got a little better. You would talk to me a little bit more. Then I started high school and I was so happy. Finally I got to see you more and hang around you. I thought it was great. We started to become friends. I loved it when you would play your songs that you had made up on the guitar. I really hate life though, now that we finally got along, you have to leave for college. Even if you go somewhere close to home, I won't see you as much as I do now. I will miss you a lot. I believe that someday you are going to be a great artist. You are very talented. Last I want to say is that I am sorry for all the bad things I have done to you. I love you and I will love you forever. You gave me the best two years of my life. Thanks for everything!

Justin & Jessica – well, where do you want to eat today?; Rico & Rica – you guys are the greatest; Betsy & Linh – my singing friends; Artis – we've sure had some good talks; Rick (of course) – thanks for being such a wonderful friend, we've shared so many memories; my new-found Y-T pals of the weekends and my old-grad friends–what fun (ooh ooh party party!); and of course all the Madrigal singers, my second family, and G. – I love you!

With love,
Susan Southerland

Congratulations to the Varsity Girls Tennis Team! Leaders in Academic Excellence!

- The Moms and Dads of the Tennis Team!

It seems like only yesterday,

And now...

You have the whole world in your hands.

-We love you and know you will do well at college.
Mom, Dad, and Chad

Ashley =There is just so much to say, I'm going to save most of it for your Yearbook. But the landing, summer talks, my surgery, your parents are a few that stand out. We've made it through a lot, almost 14 years. Just remember--friends 'till the end! LYLAS!

Cyndi = "What was that about being blond?!?" Motel California, Thanks for all the advice it really helped.

Audrey = The Hyper-Spaz, PUSH! Kilamanjaro. SHABBA RULES! You've been a great friend to me. I only hope someday I'll be able to repay you!

Danielle = From 9th grade math to 12th grade English. You've always been a great friend. Hang in there.

The F.P. will always have a place in my heart, if not from present time, from past memories. Just remember I love you all dearly.

Mike = Thanks for the MANY memories. Have faith in yourself, you can do ANYTHING. I believe in YOU. I love you, F&A.

To all those I didn't mention I didn't forget you, and I never will. GOOD LUCK!

JINX

THE '91-'92 MADRIGAL SINGERS

The Madrigal Singers is a truly diverse group
Tied together, they form a singing loop.
Each person adds a flavor of their own
Traits that are weird, funny, and seldom unknown.
Jagdeep Sehmi smiles a lot and wears maroon
She's careful about what she says and talks about the moon.
Artis Mooney claims the performing arts are in her fate
She usually has a sore throat or broken tarsal plates.
Hank Proctor is very sarcastic and likes to brew
Coffee and tea that is; he never misses practice for crew.
Susan Southerland has many friends like Farrell
She's an announcer, an explorer, and hates dead squirrels.
Lee Holland is an All-American boy who's going to Princeton
He has four brothers, a cat, and plays pool with Clinton.
Joanne Ramirez has a good sense of humor, and carries a brush
At all times; she eats oranges not apples and can easily blush.
Nataki Green loves rap and is Mademoiselle Diversity
She has a wonderful voice and plans to go to Hampton University.
Tony Brawner is a constant eater and is called Gargito
He's a football player, an actor, and one of many happy people.
Betsy Stevenson likes romances and musicals like Grease
She's friendly and cute, and hopes for world peace.
Keith Clark cares for his family and does not use hair gel
He has a girlfriend, is flirty, and altogether an earth angel.
Jessica Ward is caring, likes Valentine's Day, and has long hair
She's a cheerleader, played Dagmar, and sang Somewhere Out There.
Eduardo Contreras is constantly nervous but practices good hygiene
He's a recycler, works at the library and will always be Eugene.
Danny Byers has many girlfriends and plays soccer
He has a thing for cool hairstyles and will soon have a senior locker.
Linh Tennies is feisty, talented and is leaving for Taylor
She can play the violin and wants to marry a pilot not a sailor.
Brad Smith is a baseball player who sells compact discs
He lives in a big home, is courteous, and never takes risks.
Mr. G is patient and totally awesome; he's the one who Made us earn the title of Madrigal Singers for 91-92.

Congratulations
To The W-L Graduates of '92

We have been thru so much, you've been a great friend Football was great, without you I never would have played. I'll miss our late night Gensis sprees, John Madden RULZ., as well as our wacky double dates. I'll miss ya man, you are the best brother a brother could have. Take care, peace out. A.W.- I never realized that your initials were the same a root. PS: Better start cleaning your room!!! PPS Kay Bee SUCKS!! Water jail birds rule. A.W.- I never could have some? We could have had a great friendship but special none beer. If I have a straw can I have some? We definately have a bazar friendship but woman. Jam baby Jam. the less. I love pretty brown eyes. Don't forget me. T.B.- Six feet of nothing but woman. Jam baby Jam. Choir #1 You were a great pres. I'll miss you. A.O.- The only one to make state tryouts. Sabaage? I think not! M.L.- The only freshman I have in the ad. You are very special and deserve the respect you demand. Quit breaking me heart. T.C.- Your a big guy but I'm bigger. You're a great athlete but a better friend. My love to your family. Tito C.- I'm gonna rock your world. O.S.- I love cookies. How much do you make? Oh, that's what I thought. N.G.- Girl you enough pride for me and all of Africa. M.C.A.- Man what a year... You know I really never get mad at you I'm just really frustrated sometimes. You're a great sister, let's save the good stuff for next years ad. Who luv ya haby? A.G.- My soccer star, I'm glad we got so close this year. I'll miss you when you're gone. Score one for the Big Boy. A.M.- No I don't have talent and I never have an attiiude. It's been interesting. Good luck at the "Blonde School for the Arts" (NOT!) Take care. B.V.D.- I love your hair is it real? I wish I was sweet enough to work in a candy store too. I'll miss our se talks, you'll always be my fasion model. J.M.- You baaaaad man, can't wait to watch that movie of mine. The plays were awsome. Take care and buy a car diggit. L.S.&K.H.- I love you both. E.D.S.- Where do I start? Baby brothers' birthday parties, & crying. I won't say I'll miss you because you know i will..Please don't forget me. Miss L.J. My lover for 2 years, have fun in college take care of your golden voice- I love ya. Take care, TONY

Oh stinky, oh stinkmeister what can I say except that your feet stink. How bout that W-I football team. Who could forget all those moves we did together (literally) And all those angry occasions also those nightly visits by "The Fatal Attraction." I not lucky enough to be leaving the state, so I have to see ya next year. Schwing! By the way SHOTGUN. Rich- Thank for all the money that you loaned me. Of course I'll pay you back. Who could for get all those athletic events, especially "He could go all the way" and the famous Nation Anthem sung by McLean. I hope D.L.- Well how can I start, I guess that I have been in love with you since Sophomore year. Ilope someday that we can become more than just friends. I cherish our friendship if that's all we can have. C.S.&S.S.- The POSSE will always RULE. We have to go out more often, and do you really like Mark or what. And I'll never forget our talk about DI. & A.W.- You non-brownie cooker. Who could forget Dave and the one night stand. (NOT). M.A.- You'll always will be my freshman. #80 signing out, Teen Angel '92 MASON RULES

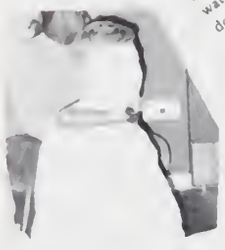

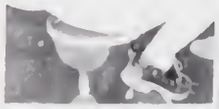

G. A.- You have got to get it together girl! M.C.A.- This has been a year I'll never forget! M.G.-Drama isn't every-thing! J.L.- Good Luck (You'll need it) C.S.- You're a great person, with a great guy, don't let him get away. J.B.- "Yes, Mrs. Filpi" What is she talking about? L.F.&L.G.- Sci was great, without you two I would have gone insane. A.C.- You know what your doin' girl. T.S.- What's your problem? D.L.- You amaze me. S.N.- Trig nibk. Just wait till next year! What weird and strange times we have been thru. L.J.- I'll miss you so much next year! K.H.- Can I come over to your house and watch those cool movies? (NOT) S.S.- I don't know okay, but I still care D.K.- We made it thru another year of Drama, oh what fun! But once again the year end has come and it time to say bye to so many. Later all, I love you, KEVIN

PS G-man, I could never leave you out. Stay cool and see ya next year! Mrs. J, I love you and I can't wait till next years trip. T.B.- I almost forgot, but you wait till next year it will be the greatest!!!!!!! PPS G.A.- You know that I was only kidding M.C.A.- Don't forget that Tony and I will always love you no matter what happens. NO KIDDING. L.K.- You should announce more with me, maybe next year C.S.- One other thing. You're a great person but keep your feet on the ground I would never want to see you get hurt. S.K.- It was cool at those few games we worked together. Good luck wherever life leads you J.W. You got a great girl, and my respect, don't let her down. S.S.-I still think you are a cool girl but I'm finally over you I still care about you and your sister, but then I always will. Love and Peace Always, KEVIN

CARLA - "one measure of friendship consists not in the number of things friends can discuss, but in the number of things they no longer mention." We've been through so much 2gether these past 4 years (not to mention the other 2). Through it all (good and bad) we've still maintained our friendship, remember all the lockers we shared? Soccer was fun. Thanx for always listening to me and putting up w/ my emotions! breakdowns (concerning you know who). Bolivia is so far away, but I'll see ya there! B/F/F! What would i have done w/o u!?
RACHEL - yo hablo solamente en español (ha ha,NOT!) 4 years of great talks of... MEN, MEN, and MEN (no need to mention names). summer letters, shopping trips, day-dreams...phone conversations, Dr. Lecter (lotion), freshman gym (ugh!) Wyatt, Grove hmm... anyway, always remember and never 4-get anything! homecoming was truly fun, & don't study too hard at Bill & Mary - keep me informed & don't hesitate to call when & if you feel a talk coming on. If ever a situation needs analyzing, i'm ready! Stay away from sultry novels (Little Birds) and what else can I say - !que rica!

JENNY - What an adventurous 4 years, huh? Remember 2nd period talks about D___d and everything else in life? Trips to D.C., Georgetown, cramming for tests & confusion, gossip, guywatching?? We've survived Science projects, guidance (you know who), STRESS, & last year's secret trips off campus! Dances were fun - i still can't believe D___y likes S___? Our chats will live on 4-ever and so will scrapbooks! BYU is awesome and you are too - thanx for being a truly great friend!!
MIKE - Optimism is really good!! I'm convinced of it. I think on the whole we've survived this year with only a small # of THOSE days! You've been a great friend & I hope you can say the same of me. Conversations etc. have been great. K.I.T. P.S.- TALK!
CHRISSY - we've known each other for 6 years now! Remember all those walks home? B-days and monopoly games were fun, movies at Skyline, and of course our record of writing each other every summer of every year at least once a week! That's pretty awesome, huh? How about those shopping trips w/ Rachel?
AUDREY - Picture the position of your head as you bite into a taco!! So, why couldn't we stop laughing in the biblioteca? Thank you, thank you, and thank you again for...group efforts! I think we need more classes 2gether, don't you think?? We have to keep writing over the summer, ok? thanx 4 being a friend!
ED - You've been always been a good friend of mine. Remember our trips to see Rica on It's Academic, fruit (ha-ha), I'll come visit you at Amherst! Hanging out with you & Jen & Carla & Rica!
CRISTINA - You've been a terrific friend!
CYNDI, NAWAL, KATE, ASHLEY & JINX - Study groups were fun!! Who else could I both gossip & study with at the same time?

LOVE, TRICIA

Don't walk in front of me
I may not follow.
Don't walk behind me
I may not lead.
Walk beside me
And be my Friend.
Susan - Thanks for the friendship, adventures, and fun
Tricia - Thanks for always listening and understanding
Carla - Thanks for always smiling
Rachel - Thanks for making me laugh
Cathy - Thanks for the great conversations and for always being in tune
My Family - Thanks for all the love and support

To all of my friends - Thanks for supporting, laughing, and crying with me through all that we've been through in the last for years. I will always remember you. Memories live on forever.

Love, Jenny

Trish - Aside from my sister Claudia, you are my other sis. I can't believe we've known each other for 6 long years. We've gone through so much 2gether-good and S.G. and how our mothers are so...alike. Remember soccer and how I was awful, but I always knew that no matter how bad I did, my good old pal Trish would cheer me up, piously lying on how I was improving. Today as fate would have it we've moved on to an uncertain zone with respect to S and J; however, we're optimistic already thinking of the others to come. I'll never forget the episode w/ regard to the suntanning at Lubber Run - we were really CRAZY. Trish, there is so much to our friendship that I don't want to even think how awful life will be w/o our talks, your great advice and our misadventure in life. I just hope that we can be best friends forever.
Rica - You and your impeccable innocent pure mind will be unforgettable. I'll never forget the bubbles in Wyatt & your great love for M.S.
Jenny - O.K., HELLO, I really dig your kind of music, we know it's the best. I hope you can forget the night of the full moon.
ED - Rico (Rica's counterpart) You're the best guy in the whole wide world, & I want you to K.I.T., OK?
Mike - Life is filled with wonderful things. Optimism and belief in oneself are the keys. Mike, you've got a lot of people behind you.
Chrissy - You are the sweetest. I will never forget your support on that terrible Friday, you showed me a different way of thinking things lightly.
Claudia - my crazy little sister, I don't know what I'd do without you. You have borne my despairs as I have borne yours on R.C. days. I promise we will always be together no matter what, and I will always be by your side.

Luv, Carla

TRICIA - Can I spill my guts? Thanx for being there for me. I mean it! CARLA - Voz o Pecho? Todavia no puedo decidir! COUSIN JENNY - Homecoming nite at your house! Shiny Happy People...CHRISSY - Hey homegirl! Naval Academy! Dress whites...sunglasses...it doesn't get better than this! MR ED - What can I say? Daily messages in Wyatt...the Its...the Edmobile...bubbles...NAIO - B+J, in ice cream and in life!..LARA AI-LAN- W+M '96 Prom dresses...Paceway...Kin Ah put msh arm around yew? MISTRESS SUSAN - Anais Nin...silk scarves and the Beauty series. LUNCH GROUP - I promise to take you all out in the Ricamobile soon!
I LOVE YOU ALL! REUNION 2012!

"You Look Good in Everything We Do"

In Memory Of

Coach Rodney Apple

"Coach Apple taught us to work hard. We're dedicating the rest of the football games to him. Coach Apple, I know you are watching us."

Tito Cerda

Captain

To all those who knew Vicky Boyd: Cherish her memories as I do everyday. I love you, Vicky, and thank you for the memories.

Jagdeep

Vicky was one of those people who, no matter what, tried to bring you up when you were down. She will always have a special place in my heart — forever!

Vicky,

God bless and I love you.

Tracy Bennett

Vicky,

You are a wonderful girl and I am sorry we never made up. What happened between us was wrong. You don't know how sorry I was and now I don't have the chance to tell you but I know you are watching over us. I thank Amy for finally letting me say good-bye to one of my dearest friends. "Be careful there are M.P.'s everywhere!" I love you, Vicky, and I'm sorry!

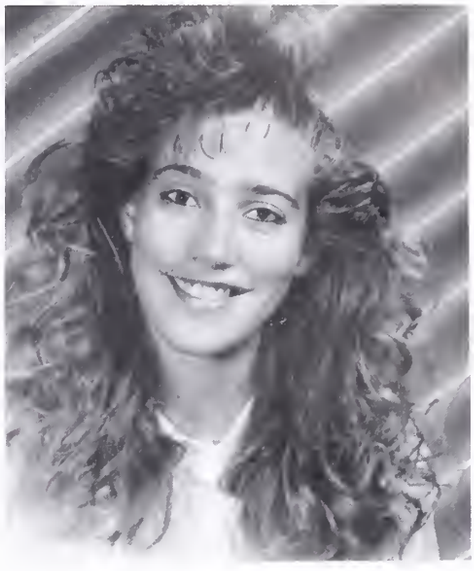

Celeste

Vicky Boyd

Dear Vicky,

You're the best friend a girl could ever have. All those good and bad times you and I got through together made you and I much better and stronger people. No one could ever depend on anyone the way I did you. You had problems and so did I, but the love and friendship we shared got us through those problems. I'll never forget you and I'll love you forever.

P.S. Remember that, Homie!!

Love you always,
Amy

To Amy — The Best
Introducing Amy, my very best friend.
Sews up my heart when it needs a mend.
Doing for me what no other can do.
Making me happy when my life turns blue.
My hair is blonde — hers is brown.
When I'm going up, she's going down.
Complete opposite, you might say,
Yet we're together everyday.
All I can say is I love her a lot.
She's the best friend I ever got.
I hope she knows, I'm telling her now . . .
I've got the perfect best friend, she's it somehow.
I tease her a lot (Well, just a smidgen),
But I think she knows I'm always kiddin'.
Sometimes her mouth gets her in a mess.
But we always work it out for the best.
On Amy you can always depend,
for keeping secrets till the end.
My heart to Amy I will send.
Introducing Amy, my best friend.

You th' Pan, no no you th' Pan!

To Phannah -- Remember the first day we met? I was only trying to figure out where I have seen you but you all got scared. It's funny now that I have known you for three years. It's incredible how years pass by without us really being conscious of them. Well, I hope we go to the same university and good luck with everything you do, especially in becoming a CPA.

To Nusrat -- Well, we have known each other for years but we kind of grew apart in the last three years or so. I am glad that we are getting to know each other again. I hope you have lots of luck next year (we really need them) and have a happy college life.

Sara

Phannah -- I mean Phanita, hey we are finally out of here but we had a great year, especially with your Camry and your music. Do not forget the lunches and the fun we have had. Do not forget Potomac Mills and the fast driving. We have had so much fun that it is so hard to write everything down. But one thing you can not forget are the HOTDOGS with ketchup. The thing you like to eat. You are very sweet and do not change in the years to come. Good luck in college and I will miss you a lot. Do not forget the fun days! And most important your loud burps!

Sara -- Keep those sexy legs alive! Even though we have known each other for several years, we got close because of Phannah's Camry and her music if you know what I mean -- meaning if it wasn't for Phannah we wouldn't be close friends. Good luck in your college life and the years to come. I will miss both of you, and to my other friends, Good luck.

Love always,
Nusrat Khan

Sara -- Remember Sophomore year, the first day of school, you scared the heck out of me. I never thought we would become friends and somehow we did. Thanks for being such a wonderful friend over the past three years and good luck in the future.

Nusrat -- Yes, you are probably the only person crazier than me, and how would I have survived three years without you? Do not forget Potomac Mills with W&M. Also do not forget the lessons I've taught you CHOPSTICKS! And last but not least do not forget when we went to lunch everyday in my brand new Camry listening to heavy metal music. I know by now that you are probably a heavy metal freak just like me. Do not forget George Mason Drive; THE SPEEDING TICKET!!!

Cissy -- What about FBLA this year? I never thought you would be so wild. I always thought that you were a quiet and innocent girl until the day I talked to you on the phone one day. I never thought you listened to heavy metal, oh by the way how is Kip Winger doing? God he is hot!

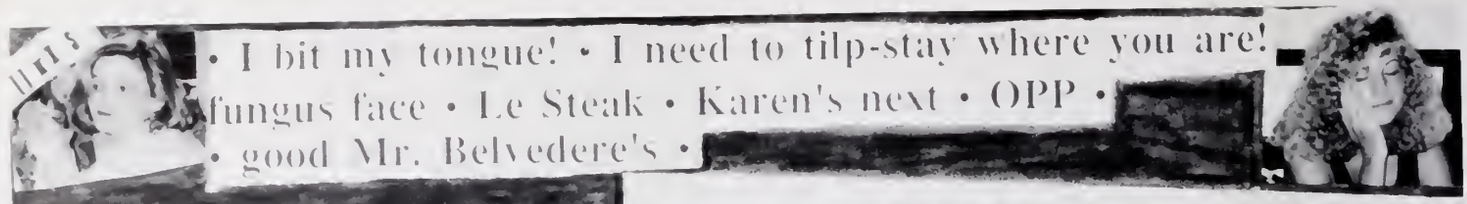

Tahera -- Hardee's?? Enough is enough of that blowing kisses in the wind. Thanks for the cake.

Mindy -- You're the best. Thanks for helping and giving me advice with all the problems I had. Good luck with David in the future. I know we will be in constant communication, won't we?

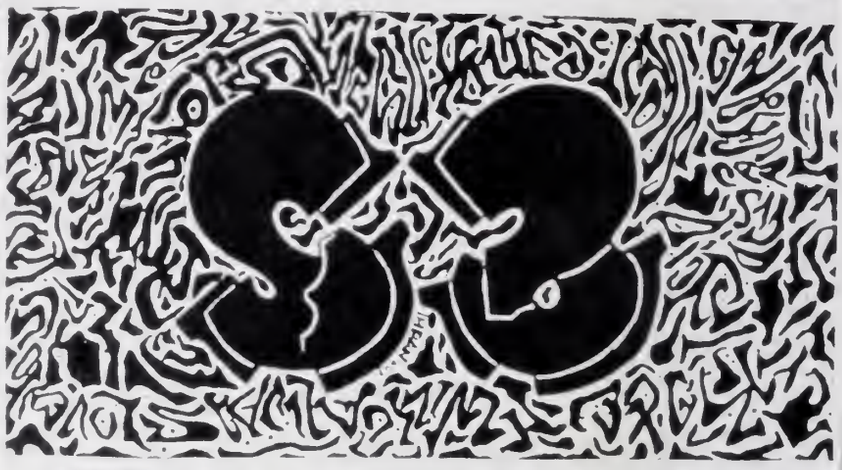

Neeraj -- My life has never been so full of excitement. I have learned so much from you. I love you very much and I don't want to let go of you! Do not forget babysitting Caroline with me, you were great with her. Christmas Eve at Ballston -- my DAD!! CAN'T FORGET THAT DAY!

Rany -- You are simply the best. I love you cousin, and congratulations on becoming a senior next year! I know you have the confidence to succeed. And to all my other friends, thanks for everything from the past three years. I love you all, I will miss you all and do not party too hard at college.

Phannah

HOW TO THROW A MAJOR LEAGUE FASTBALL

There are two kinds of heads.

The ones that wind up excelling in school.

And the ones that smoke pot and do drugs.

Which head you turn out to be is up to you.

You can resist an offer of drugs.

Just say no.

You'd be surprised how well it works.

Morgan — Qu'est ce que vous voulez? Pourquoi est ce que vous venez m'embeter toujours?!
Cristina — Je n'ai pas du travaille. Je suis une veuve et je n' ai pas d'argent. Mais j'ai des cailloux a vendre. Aidez-moi!!
Morgan — Je n'ai pas du temps pour vos problemes . . . Mais combien de livres est-ce que vous avez?
Cristina — Pas assez!!
Eduardo — Je suis un poete, et j'ai plein de bijoux pour vous aider a souvivre!
Cristina — (pense) C'est un vieillard avec des poux, mais il est presque mort alors. . . Oh monsieur le vieillard, vous m'avez sauver. Comment est-ce que je peux vous repayer?
Eduardo — Venez avec moi. Allons boire du champagne Nous pouvons regardez les arc en ciels. Epouser-moi!!
Brent — Nous sommes les victimes de ce vieillard!
Morgan — De quoi est-ce que vous parlez?
Erika — Ce dindon a vole un vase tres chere et tous mes bijoux!!
Eduardo — Comment est-ce que vous savez que c'est moi?!
Brent — Parce que vous avez donnez des poux a nos moutons, et nos brebis, et je veux mes bijoux!
Erika — VOS bijoux?!! Ma grand-mere me les a donne.
Cristina — Oh la la! Je ne veux pas epouser u voleur!!
Morgan — Je n'ai pas du temps pour tous vos problemes!! Je vais prendre un somme.
Eduardo — Oh la la, c'est le drame!! Ca cause ma mort.

C'etait une annee tres interessent!! Merci Monsieur Hadiji pour tout ce que vous avez fait. On ne va jamais oublier le francais que vous avez nous appris. Vous etes le vrai "Elvis!!!!!!!!!!"

Vous allez nous manquer,
Votre classe de super francais.

BAYN, Chocolate corks makeover from HELL . . . Razzle Dazzle ITALY/GREECE! We've been through soooooooo much. I'll always remember all of the great times we've shared — even just driving around talking. You are such a special friend, and I hope we always remain close.!
CRISTINA, Qu'est-ce que c'est????? You'll never know how glad I am that we became such good friends this year. Your friendship has really meant a lot, and I'll miss you when you go back to Portugal. But, who knows, if I just get a few more lessons of Portugese, I may be on the next plane over! KAREN, Good luck at Marry Washington next year! Is your dad a hair stylist? NOT! KATE, Watch out for those dutches!!!!! Keep up with swimming — you're the best! Oh, and Kate, what's the deal with these MINORITIES?
TONY, I have never known anyone as talented, caring, and HILARIOUS as you. I'll always be there for you — we've gone through too much for me not to be. I'll never be far, Tony, and in twenty years when I'm interviewing you, we'll think back on these crazy high school years and laugh.
To all of my other friends — You know who you are: Good luck with everything you do. These past years have been great — but the best years are just beginning.
MATTHEW, What is there to say? I've loved you for two wonderful years now, and it will never die. You've opened up my world so much, and I only hope I've made you half as happy as you've made me. I could list the memories we've made, but it would pretty much take up the entire yearbook. I thank whoever is up there every day for letting you stumble into Benetton one beautiful summer day. Love, Erika

All that I have 2 say cannot possibly be said in this itty bitty space, but the small space that I do have, is dedicated 2 some very special people . . . ERIKA — What would I do w/out U 2 cry 2?! Qu'est ce que c'est?? & C'est tacky je sais! Oh and, Ce dindon!! — je t'aime! U have truly been wonderful. BAYN — well, well, well miss U and I have been thru so much 2gether, some bad, but mostly good. I will never 4get all the fantastic times we've had, and all the laughter and tears (mostly mine). JESSICA — Merci Bocles and See the cats play — remember? love you!! — bysers! KAREN — wait, what does tilping mean? R E M. — Portugal/France song — Losing my R. KATE — How's your pussycat feeling, I bet it's longing for that wolf! WALDEN — what are you doing 10 years from now? AUD — RRRRRRRRR! Shnagada Hagada. ASH-oh, never-mind you claim not to know me! DAN — what's our song? JINX-nnnnne!!! Mike B. — Thanx for all of our deep talks to everyone who didn't fit — I Love you all!!

See ya at the beach, I'm outta here!!

A Spring Fling

When we think of the end af the year appraaching, we think af spring. Alang with spring came the thaughts af birds, flawers, and lave. Love is accampanied by the many spring flings that start develaping.

The W-L stage saw its shore of numerous spring flings an March 12th, 13th, and 14th. These were the dates af the 1920's musical spaaf called The Boyfriend. The musicol is set in the French Riviera ot a preparatory schaal far yaung ladies. But as it turns, aut, the girls are more interested in having fun and learning abaut lave then in being "Perfect Young Ladies".

Pally Brawne is ane af the girls at the schaal who happens to have a great imaginatian but na boyfriend. Thus, she decides ta create one sa that she can impress her friends. Everyone is excited abaut the castume ball that is ta take place and Polly awaits anxiausly for her Pierrette castume althaugh there is really na Pierrot. Then, by a streak of luck, she falls in love with a messenger bay by the name af Tany. Tony is the ane who brings Pally her costume and saan he becames her Pierratt and they declare ta one another, "I Cauld Be Happy With Yau".

As Pally's and Tany's fling becomes seriaus, another one af the girls named Maisie is busy flirting and having fun with as many guys as she can. She makes the boys realize that there is "Safety in Numbers". Her fling happens to be with Bobby VanHusen, the rich Americon wha earnestly asks Maisie, "Wan't You Charlestan With Me?"

Althaugh mast af the flings develaping are between young peaple, there is raam far ald flings ta rekindle. This is the case between the headmistress of the school, Mme. Dubonnet and Percival Browne (Pally's father). Mme. Dubannet lights Percy's heart with lave ance agoin as they both sing "Fancy Forgetting" and remember the gaad ald days.

The musical ends an many happy notes as the flings turn to marriage proposals and long lost reunions. The curtain clases as Mme. Dubannet exclaims, "La, la it seems that lave is in the oir tanight," and Babby leads everyane in doing the Charleston.

The Year in Review

As we students continued in our rather conventional school-centered lives, the world was a storm of controversy and excitement. There were new and exciting developments in every spectrum of life — from politics to entertainment.

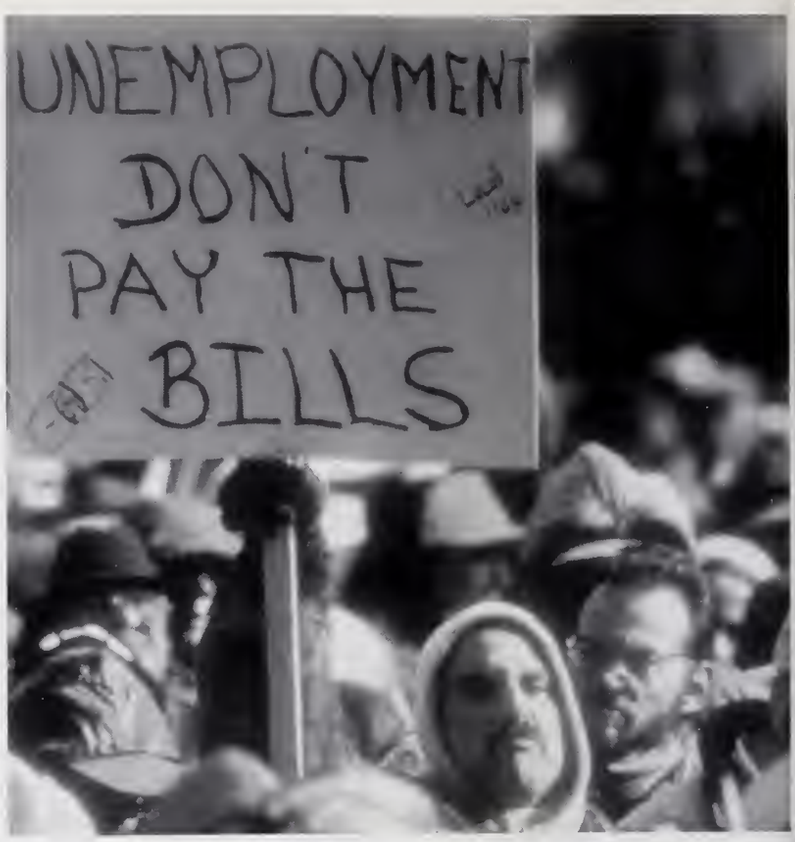

In the U.S., the political arena survived the beginning of another presidential race. Candidates dealt with important issues such as the suffering economy, medical care, and abortion. Overseas, history was drastically altered with the dissolution of the Soviet Union. From coups to capitalism, the former Soviet Union was a breeding ground of discontent and instability.

Health issues came to the forefront of our consciences. With the announcement that Magic Johnson had contracted the HIV virus came the realization of many Americans that AIDS does not discriminate. The issue was further emphasized by the poignant story of Kimberly Bergalis, who allegedly contracted AIDS from her dentist. The safety of silicone breast implants was challenged in many heated debates.

The ever-changing entertainment world provided enough excitement for anyone. In television, the new teen-oriented show "Beverly Hills, 90210" became an obsession for many. The controversial film "JFK" unearthed many of the unanswered questions regarding the Kennedy assassination. As the popularity of rap music continued to grow in the music industry, other forms of music such as heavy metal, and classic rock continued to remain favorites. Also this year, many of us felt the loss personally of a respected literary figure — Dr. Seuss.

Athletic events proved to be a great source of entertainment for everyone, including the most amateur of spectators. The Minnesota Twins won an incredibly suspenseful World Series in October. Our very own Washington Redskins worked their way to the top by winning the Superbowl. February brought the 16th Winter Olympics. Americans brought medals home to the very proud U.S. Finally, Magic Johnson retired his L.A. Lakers jersey in a touching ceremony.

Many issues were prevalent in our minds as the school year wore on. How can we deal with racial hatred? sexual harassment? the environment? euthanasia? AIDS? growing up?

Unemployed workers rally for support from the government.

Awareness and acceptance of gay rights continue to grow.

Redskin's quarterback Mark Rypien led his team to a 1992 Superbowl victory.

Anita Hill sits and waits at the Clarence Thomas sexual harassment hearings.

A military standoff shook Moscow.

The entertaining and witty Dr. Seuss at work.

One of the many hostages released in December greets freedom with open arms.

The production of the 1992 Blue and Gray yearbook began over the summer when the staff members sold ads to local businesses. However, this selling continued once school began. Besides selling ads, the staff members began drawing layouts, taking pictures, writing copy and, most importantly, finding quotes to incorporate the theme "You Can Quote Me On That" throughout the book. One of our main goals was to show the diversity of our school.

This year's cover was designed by Naomi Wiersma and Anne Snouck-Hurgronje with the help of John Bailey. The cover was laminated lithograph using different percentages of red and blue. The standard type style was Metrolite, and the headline styles varied according to each section. This year's book consists of 260 pages, 16 of which are in color. The mugs and some candid shots were taken by Segall-Majestic. The 65th volume of the Blue and Gray was published by Josten's Publishing Co. This volume of the Blue and Gray was sold for $35.00 apiece.

Extra special thanks to.....
-John Bailey, our Jostens Representative, for returning our endless phone calls to answer our questions.
-Terry Poovey, our Jostens Representative in North Carolina, for help in handling our account.
-Kelly Firm, Segall-Majestic account representative, for supplying an endless amount of film and having photographers available to photograph the special events of the year.
-Ms. Ledyard, our advisor, for guiding us in the right direction.
-Maurice, our devoted Business Manager, for keeping all the monetary business on track and for promoting sales for ads and yearbooks.
-Ms Brown, the school treasurer, for handling all of our money.
-The student body for completing the plethora of surveys.
-The English department for taking time out of class to allow students to complete these surveys.
-Ms. Matos, the English department secretary, for Xeroxing our infinite amount of surveys.
-Gustavo Cubillos, Larry Cardenas, and the photojournalism class for developing and printing our film.
-The staff for their hard work and dedication.
